NO WORD OF FLIERS

Another real step has been taken in the movement to secure the construction of the Pymatuning dam at the headwaters of the Shenango river. The contract for actual construction of the dam was awarded by the state yesterday. It is expected that immediate preliminary work can be done to get the actual construction under way.

Weather reports indicate that it's coming along about the time of the year when we can expect a frost. The temperature has been down to 46 a couple of nights recently. And again there may be some real warm weather before actual fall arrives as can be seen by the reports that the mid-west is in the grip of a torrid wave at the present time.

One has but to make a trip thru the country districts at the present time to discover that the hunting season is once more approaching. The "No Trespassing" signs are becoming numerous on many of the farms once more.

The multitude of Japanese beetle traps that the department of agriculture placed around New Castle seemed to be little in demand this summer. Pa Newc has received no reports of Japanese beetles being captured in them. All of which is mighty fine news to New Castle. The Japanese beetle is one of the worst pests that can be found at the present time, and the battle to prevent its spread is more than justified.

Working hours of the traffic light at Park and Highland avenues seem to be a little irregular. One night the light is turned off early, and maybe the next evening it is operating well towards midnight.

Nothing has as yet been done towards making a beauty spot of the triangular section included between the roads just at the edge of the seventh ward, where one branch of Mt. Jackson and crosses the bridge and the other goes to Pittsburgh. A beauty spot could be made here similar to that which marks the road intersections at Harlansburg.

Pa Newc is at a loss to understand why dilapidated old buildings that haven't been used for many years are allowed to stand along the improved roads of the countryside. Why not a campaign to have these relics removed?

Fall plowing is well under way on many of the Lawrence county farms. Used to be that about this time of the year Col. W. W. Stevenson, humane agent, had to get right busy. Teams were used in hauling coal up the hills of the city, and the colonel was quite active watching that the wagons were not overloaded and the horses worked too hard. But modern progress has eliminated this chore of the humane officer. A team of horses hauling a load of coal is a rare sight these days, the auto truck having taken over the task.

How many bushels in a ton of coal? This is one of the questions that floated into The News office over the telephone this morning from some inquirer. Pa Newc passed on that one.

Believe Powers' Safety Deposit Box Has Secret

Clarksburg, West Virginia Officials To Make Effort To Secure Deposit Box

REAL NAME OF SLAYER UNKNOWN

Suit Will Be Started To Collect Money Alleged Taken From Mrs. Lemke

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 9.—In the hope of piercing the enigma of Harry Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard, the man with an alias for every murder committed, authorities planned legal steps to obtain the contents of the safety deposit box in a local bank belonging to the mail-order love-lace.

"The key to this case depends on finding the true identity of the prisoner," said City Detective Carl Southern, in charge of the investigation.

Want Safety Box Frustrated by the dogged silence of Powers as to what his real name and birthplace might be, authorities hope to open new trials by examining the contents of his safety deposit box.

Chief of Police Duckworth said today that he believed that no more bodies would be found in the vicinity of Clarksburg and that if additional victims to the five already known were to be uncovered in other places the real identity of the confessed murderer must be secured.

The murder man of mystery used five known aliases—Harry Powers, Cornelius Peterson, Joe Gildaw, "Mr. Francis," and "Mr. Bjorgo."

The legal steps for the securing of the safety deposit box of Powers will be undertaken by counsel for the heirs of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, of Worcester, Mass., the fifth victim of the killer. The other known victims were Mrs. Asta Eicher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and her three children.

J. Ed Law, defense counsel for Powers, was supposed to have opened the box the day after Powers was arrested. Attachment papers served on the bank today disclosed that the law had left a receipt showing he had withdrawn from the contents of the box. The lawyer obtained a power of attorney from Powers for this move.

Several Bequests Made By Mrs. Stratton's Will

In the will of the late Mary Susan Stratton, widow of the late Dr. J. L. Stratton, several bequests were left to organization in which she had been interested in her lifetime. The will was probated on September 8.

To the Almira Home, Mrs. Stratton left $1100 to endow a room in her memory.

To the Ida M. Cribbs Memorial Home in Conneautville, she left $300.

To the Ruth M. Smith Children's Home in Sheffield, Pa., she left $300.

To the Young Women's Christian Association of New Castle she left $200.

Other bequests were made to relatives, and when the bequests are paid out, if there is any residue left, it is to go to the Almira Home.

Change In Method Of Numbering Ballots In Effect On Tuesday

When Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen step into the ballot booths on Tuesday, September 15, they can be assured they are going to cast a secret ballot.

In former years it has been customary to refer to the ballot as "secret" but actually it was anything but that. Each ballot was numbered and the voter recorded in the book against that number. Where any election officer so desired he could check the one against the other and thus ascertain how any person voted.

Legislature Changed It This has been changed, the 1931 session of the Legislature enacting a new law which makes the ballot secret but at the same time gives the election officers a record of his vote.

The ballots for the election next Tuesday will each contain a number on the upper right hand corner of the reverse side of the ballot, which means that it is under the upper left hand corner of your ballot. Running diagonally across the corner is a perforated line which permits tearing easily.

The ballot number is recorded on the stub retained by the judge. When a voter steps into the polls the election judge hands him a ballot, after ascertaining that the voter is qualified. The voter then steps into the booth, marks his ballot and folds it up. As he comes out to deposit it in the ballot box he shows the ballot to the judge who sees that it is the same number that the voter took into the booth with him.

Blast Wrecks Powder Plant At Dallas, Texas

Eight Persons Injured As Plant Near Texas City Lets Go

NEARBY HOMES ARE DEMOLISHED

Repair Shop Of Southern Pacific Railroad Is Also Wrecked

(BULLETIN)

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 9.—At least eight persons were injured, two of them so seriously they may die, and five buildings wrecked by the explosion of a large DuPont Powder Company dynamite magazine near Hutchins, six miles from here.

Ruins of houses and a railroad shop near the scene of the explosion were being searched for possible other victims.

The explosion was caused by a grass fire which ate its way unobserved into the powder plant. The magazine was said to have contained 35,000 pounds of dynamite and a quantity of TNT and gelatin explosives. It was the central plant of five magazines in the vicinity.

The big farm home of Henry Schaefer Sr., on whose property the magazine stood, was demolished. A repair shop owned by the Southern Pacific railroad also was wrecked, as were three small residences. Ten men were at work in the railroad shop. Only four of them had been accounted for.

Adopt Plans For Administration Of Relief Work

Mayor's Committee And Community Chest Board Make Recommendations

CENTRAL AGENCY TO BE CLEARING HOUSE

Churches, Lodges, And Independent Organizations Asked To Join Plan

After a wide discussion of the problems of administering relief to the needy residents of New Castle and its environs, the committee appointed by Mayor W. H. Gillespie to discuss the question with the Community Chest Board at their meeting last evening recommended a plan, which it is believed, will take care of the situation during the coming winter in an effective manner.

Executive Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, submitted a plan, which provided that a central agency act as a clearing house for all applications for assistance. Under this central agency, each separate organization engaged in the administration of charity, would be given one specific task to perform. One organization would distribute clothing, another would distribute food, another would take care of housing the homeless, while another would take care of the serving of soup, such as was done here last winter.

VICTIMS OF 'LOVE CLUB' TRAGEDY

These three little girls were orphaned when their mother, Mrs. Laura Bruckmeyer Downey of Detroit, (insert) was killed by her "mail order" husband at Miami last January. Investigation into the American Friendship Society of Detroit, through which Harry P. Powers, West Virginia "Bluebeard," met his victims, shows Mrs. Downey met her husband slayer through the same medium. Downey committed suicide after shooting his "love club" wife. The children, Edure, Ruth and Eleanor Bruckmeyer, are being cared for by relatives.

Public Schools Resume For Fall And Winter; Nearly 11,000 In Classes

Nearly eleven thousand boys and girls, and some 375 teachers definitely divorced themselves from the summer vacation today when the New Castle schools resumed after three months idleness. Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, stated that with two exceptions, due to minor illness, every teacher was at her post.

The exact figures on the enrollment were not available today, nor will they be anywhere near accurate for at least a month. Past experience has shown that the enrollment shows a steady increase for the first 30 days, due to families returning from vacations and other causes.

Principals Meet Meeting with his principals today in the administration building Dr. Green went over the school situation, suggested certain lines of work and each principal had the benefit of the suggestions of the other men and women.

Little delay marked the getting away of the schools today. During the summer there have been extensive repairs made to a number of buildings, but there has been no change in the system and few changes in the teaching personnel. The usual difficulties experienced with a large number of new teachers was obviously avoided.

Convict Shot During Riot In Utah Prison

(International News Service) SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 9.—Louis Deatridge, serving a sentence for robbery, was reported shot and killed during a riot that broke out in the state penitentiary here today.

Squads of Salt Lake police officers and sheriff's deputies were rushed to the prison to augment the guards in restoring order.

First reports indicated that turmoil prevailed within the prison walls and gunfire could be heard. Deputy Warden W. F. Giles was held prisoner for a time by the rioting prisoners, who were said to have obtained revolvers and other weapons from a secret source. Giles was later released without injury.

Allen And Moyle On Pacific Hop Are Feared Lost

Fliers Had Estimated It Would Take 44 Hours To Reach Seattle

(International News Service)

BOEING AIRPORT, SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 9.—As the hands of the airport clock crept past 8:30 a. m. (PST) today no word of the progress of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California airmen flying from Japan to Seattle, had been received here.

It was at that hour the two intrepid fliers had expected to arrive. They estimated it would take them 44 hours to make the 4,465 mile journey when they left San Francisco Beach, Japan. This period had elapsed at 8:30 a. m.

A flurry of excitement was caused among the airport attendants, newspapermen and spectators at the field when a report was long distance from Port Townsend, Wash., to the airport administration building that a plane had been sighted over that city heading east at 7:35 a. m. Hope that this ship might have been that of the trans-Pacific fliers dwindled as an hour slipped by without a sign of the raven hued monoplane.

Port Townsend is about 50 miles from Seattle by airplane.

ABOARD U. S. COAST GUARD CUTTER ITasca, Sept. 9.—Although a sharp lookout was maintained, nothing had been seen today of the trans-Pacific monoplane in which Cecil A. Allen and Don Moyle are flying from Tokyo to Seattle.

Two Japanese ships south of the Itasca also failed to sight the plane. The Coast Guard Cutter Itasca was located at a point north and just west of the Aleutian Islands. The fliers had planned to fly over the Aleutians.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 9.—An airplane reported over Port Townsend, Wash. this morning was believed here to have been a news plane from Victoria. The Victoria plane flew over Port Townsend at the same time the report was broadcast that a ship believed to be the Pacific fliers had been sighted headed for Seattle. It was reported at the local airport.

WOULD CUT KINGS OUT OF POKER DECKS

(International News Service) MADRID, Sept. 9.—Complete eradication of anything pertaining to royalty—including the kings in a poker deck—was recommended by a radical Socialist deputy to the Constituent Cortes today.

The deputy announced he would soon submit a bill prohibiting makers of playing cards from including a king in the deck, on the grounds "it reminds people of royalty."

Arthur Mometer

He entered an unknown world today, a world of work and surprise, and I judge he is puzzled no little but from the look that shone in his eyes. It's all exciting to him so far, he'll have to learn what it's about, and it's going to be hard to sit still in class till the bell says it's time to go out. For he's never known much what restraint can mean, he's following no rote or rule, but now he has entered another world, he started today to school. And wagons and toys must be put aside, and motor trucks laid away, until such time as the school is out, it's seventy six today.

NATIONAL AIR RACES FINISHED

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—Despite the assaults of two flyers who won fame with their speedy planes in the National Air Races, the men's American record for land planes and the international women's record remained untouched today.

Echoing the end of the annual aviation spectacle, J. R. Wedell, Patterson, La., and Maude I. Tait, Springfield, Mass., took to the air at Municipal airport in an attempt to shatter existing speed marks but failed in their attempts.

Woman Comes Close.
Piloting his Wedell-Williams Special, Wedell, who won second place in the Thompson trophy dash, came within 23 miles an hour of breaking the land record held by Lieutenant Alford Williams. His average speed was 243.290 miles per hour. Aiming at the record of 210 miles per hour held by Miss Ruth Nichols of Rye, N. Y., Miss Tait averaged 209.12 miles per hour, falling short a fraction of a mile.

CHANGE IN METHOD OF NUMBERING BALLOTS

tion judge orders the voter to tear off the corner on the perforated line and deposit the ballot in the box. The corner with the number on it is retained by the voter to do with as he pleases.

In this manner every voter knows that the ballot he deposits in the box is unmarked, and cannot be checked back unless the judge should mark it with additional identification, which would make it illegal.

The corner must be torn off. Any ballots left in the box with the corner on are void. Election officers are urged to take notice of this provision and also the provision which says that the voter shall be told when to tear off the corner.

For the information of voters and election officials, parts of the act are quoted as follows:

Section 3: As each elector receives his ballot at any such election, the election officer or clerk in charge of the ballot check list shall note thereon, opposite such elector's name, the number of the ballot handed to him and the same shall also be noted on the lists of the voters being kept by the clerks.

Section 4: After each elector has marked his ballot at any such election, he shall fold the same in such a way as to prevent anyone from being able to see how his ballot has been marked and shall then exhibit the same to the judge or one of the inspectors of the election whose duty it shall be to ascertain by an inspection of the number whether the ballot exhibited to him is the same ballot received before entering the voting compartment. If it is the same ballot, he shall authorize the elector to tear off the ballot the corner containing its number, and the elector shall after tearing off said corner immediately deposit the ballot in the ballot box.

Section 5: Any ballot deposited in a ballot box at any such election without having the upper right hand corner thereof torn off as provided in this act shall be void.

Section 6: Any judge of election who shall permit any elector at any such election to deposit in the ballot box, a ballot without first having torn off the right hand corner thereof as provided in this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of $10 for each ballot so permitted to be deposited.

The act is a piece of the ill-fated Election Code which was killed in the past session of the Legislature. However, this much of the code, along with several other pieces were rescued in time and put through as separate pieces of legislation.

The purpose of the act referred to in this article is to guarantee the voter a secret ballot, to obviate any possibility of chain voting, and to prevent any check on the voter's intentions once he has deposited the ballot in the box. The responsibility of seeing that the act is complied with lies upon the judge of elections and in this respect the act adds to the duties of this official.

The Taggart field attracts its array of spectators early. Scores watch eagerly the pre-season antics of Coach Bridie's gridmen behind the wired fence almost every afternoon.

Children trudged to the various schools today and autoists had obvious notices that their machines were operating in school zones, according to Captain J. Ed. Elmer of the police traffic division. Streets have been marked off and signs showing automobiles are in school zones have been painted a bright yellow.

Complaint was registered today with Pa. News by a resident of the Pulaski road district of Neshannock township concerning the fact that night before last, some unknown person drove up in a car, stopped turned off the lights, and then went on, leaving it was found in the morning, a box containing a dead dog. In the box was a clean laundry bag and a boys sweater coat in good condition. The question is raised by the resident as to why the owner of the dead animal could not rid himself of the dog at his home instead of doing so in Neshannock township.

Garden growers here have not passed up the West North street garden plot cultivated this summer by George Foster, ambitious worker who maintains a newsstand at the corner of North Jefferson and East Washington streets. Children's Lives Must Be Protected

—MAYOR GILLESPIE

Ordinarily Mayor William H. Gillespie becomes "out of sorts" but today his eyes flashed and his fist pounded heavily on the mayor's desk when he declared: "The lives of our school children must be protected. We are to be who drives an automobile recklessly through a school zone."

His answer came when the mayor was asked what provision had been taken by the department of police, which is under his supervision to protect school children from autoists with no regard for signs or children.

"There will be no excuses accepted. We do not allow children to act as traffic officers here but janitors will help when school children are going in and going out. Police, both motorcycle and foot, will be somewhere in the vicinity of schools and motorists who do not drive right will be punished."

Early today the police were at different school and Patrolman Criswell was on the job, looking for speeding automobiles.

"What do you intend to do if you see an auto operating too fast in a school zone?" Criswell was asked.

"What am I going to do? Don't ask that question. You know what I'm going to do. That driver is going to face His Honor the Mayor," he replied.

And then Criswell said something else. "Autoists must drive in a straight line through a school zone. They cannot pass around each other."

When Criswell isn't riding, Motorcycle Policemen Ray Richards or Ray Showalter will be on the roads.

Raise Question About Tuition

Children Living At Crawford Oak Ridge Home Bring Problem

Some question arose today in the Lawrence County school over the payment of tuition of the children who are living in the old Crawford Oak Ridge Home as wards of the county. The question as to their residence was put up to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent and the matter is being investigated.

If the children are residents of New Castle there can be no charge for tuition. If they are children of residents outside the city limits, then the townships from which they come are liable for their tuition.

Previously they had been living in Edinburg, Pa., and two of the children, whose parents had resided in New Castle had to be provided for by the school district of New Castle.

ADOPT PLAN FOR ADMINISTRATION OF RELIEF WORK

cial service agencies be organized to supervise the collection and distribution of relief work.

Conservation of relief work. When this plan is placed in operation, every agency in the city, including the churches, lodges, clubs, etc., will be asked to cooperate with the council in the distribution of this relief.

There is going to be such a tremendous demand for assistance this winter those familiar with the situation, stated, that the conservation of all resources will be necessary, and it will be futile for the committee to attempt to administer relief in an equitable manner if the lodges, churches and clubs do not cooperate in the project.

Last winter, it was found that there was a great amount of duplication of effort. Persons were found who were receiving assistance from the Mayor's Relief committee, or one of the organizations under the Community Chest, and in addition, were also receiving assistance from Sunday School classes, church societies, or lodges. This meant, that some people were receiving far more than their share, while other people were not getting as much as they needed.

County Welfare Director, M. B. Hogue, stated at the meeting last evening that the sum of $350 per day is being spent in outside relief by the county at the present time, and that no family is receiving more than two or three dollars worth of aid per week, barely enough to keep them existing. Mr. Hogue stated that the County Commissioners had recently estimated that the county would be forced to spend at least $225,000 this year from the poor fund, and that twice that amount would be needed to give adequate relief.

Unemployed Registered
J. K. McQuiddy, representing the Building Trades Council and the Trades and Labor Assembly, stated that 2,000 people had registered their names with him as being unemployed, and that this list of names was at the disposal of the council.

No plan was advocated by the committee at their meeting last evening, relative to the method of employing the money necessary to finance the tremendous project, but felt that this could be done when the plan was placed in operation and the need for funds shown.

Last evening's meeting, which was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and was presided over by Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, president of the Community Chest of New Castle.

In addition to the representatives of the various agencies operating under the Community Chest, those on the Mayor's committee who were present, were Mrs. John E. Elliott, chairman; William F. Moody, Rev. C. J. Williamson, Mrs. H. C. Harper, P. A. Hoyer, Orville Potter, J. K. McQuiddy and M. B. Hogue.

The recommendation of the joint committee will be submitted to Mayor W. H. Gillespie today so that the plan may be placed in operation as soon as possible.

Bus Will Be Taken Off Road

Bus Stopped Here Will Be One Of 50 Banned In Pennsylvania

Local members of the state highway patrol today stated that the Greyhound bus which had been removed from the New Bedford-New Castle highway a week ago on account of it being too wide has been taken from the city and will probably be one of the 50 buses ordered off Pennsylvania highways.

The bus, filled with 12 passengers, was stopped while en route to Ohio. The passengers continued their journey in other cars. The patrolmen examined the bus and found it exceeded the maximum width. The driver was arrested and fined $10. The license plates were stripped from the bus and it was ordered parked in a local plot.

The company officials, it is reported, secured a permit to move the bus and it has been taken from the city. A few days ago the State Highway Department reported that about 50 buses would be removed from the state highways as they do not conform to the motor law.

tained $15,000 in cash, securities and jewelry from Mrs. Lemke. It is also alleged that Mrs. "Lulu" Powers, wife of the prisoner, and her sister, Eva Belle Strother assisted in the fraud.

The women admitted Powers gave them a check on the day of his arrest for $3,657 to transfer to their joint account but declared that they thought it was his own money.

Maintain Innocence

The women, who have been grilled daily with scant success, also maintain that the clothing and silverware of Mrs. Lemke and Mrs. Elcher, found in their house was there without their knowledge.

Virtually everybody connected with the case has been receiving large quantities of mail from persons throughout the country. Among the letters received by Chief Duckworth was one from H. W. Swanson, attorney, of Devil's Lake, N. D. It related that a 19-year-old girl had been murdered there in a hotel in June, 1921, and suggested that perhaps Powers was connected with the crime. The prisoner, under the name of Joe Gildaw, was known to be in the Dakotas a few years after that time.

Buffalo Woman Writes

A woman from Buffalo, N. Y., whose was withheld sent a letter which read in parts as follows:

"Harry Powers has been in the matrimonial bureau game for over five years. I joined a matrimonial bureau in 1925, then called the Valley View Matrimonial Club of Valley View, Neb. The following spring I received letters from Harry Powers then living in Crestline, Ohio, and also an address at Mansfield, O. I have letters and a photo from him."

Another letter from a woman in Erie, Pa., who signed her name as "A Young Widow," told how she corresponded with Powers.

"I would like to give you my name that I suppose would go in the paper like the rest and I can't do that," she wrote, "I am sorry. I have never been ashamed of my name and I have to conceal it now."

The letter said that she corresponded with Powers at the instance of a man giving his name as George Payne. She said she was told that a man called Cornelius Pierson could give her work.

"He asked me if my husband had left me much money—he already knew I was a widow—and he just grinned when I told him I did not have much money," she wrote.

Many Women Write

He gave me box 277, Clarksburg and box 100, Detroit, to write to. Pierson wrote me two letters, both of which inquired about my money and my relatives and then I stopped writing to him. I am sorry I ever trusted him."

A woman in Muskegon, Mich., who said she got a letter August 22, 1931 from a man signing his name "Cornelius A. Driscoll," Delina, Ia., wrote she believed the letter was from Powers.

Mrs. Jessie Shirren, of Jackson, Miss., wrote:

"I am sure Powers is the man who brought his dirty work into our state a few years ago and gave me cause to want the noose drawn around his neck. I am sure you can look around East Chicago, Ind., for other victims."

Mr. McGoun's Funeral.

Funeral services for the late Harvey E. McGoun were held Tuesday afternoon, September 8, at 3:30 p. m. at the residence of his son, Ralph C. McGoun, 508 Centennial street, with Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in charge.

The services were very largely attended and the floral tributes were many and indicated the high esteem in which Mr. McGoun was held.

The pallbearers were sons and grandsons of the deceased.

Interment was made in the McGoun mausoleum at Gracehand cemetery.

John Henry Bryson.

One of New Castle's well known musical celebrities passed away this morning at his home when the Gram Reaper claimed John Henry Bryson, aged 61, of 607 West State street, about 6:55. His death was caused by hemorrhages.

Mr. Bryson was born in Buffalo, N. Y., the son of John and Elizabeth Tobin Bryson, but when he was a baby the family came to New Castle to live and he had made his home here ever since. He had become quite famed in the county as a violinist of much ability and a few years ago won the championship of Lawrence county as an old time fiddler.

THE STARVING CHINESE MILLIONS

THAT millions of Chinese should be on the brink of starvation or actually dying for lack of food is a more than twice told tale. War, famine and pestilence have long been the lot of an unhappy people. Nor are the grim spectres likely to vanish under the misgovernment of the rival war lords, whether Chiang Kai-shek or another. The familiarity of the disaster is likely to deprive it of the pity and terror it might evoke. But the despatch from the United States of 15,000,000 bushels of wheat to the government on long-term credits makes the picture of suffering a little more vivid. Nominally a commercial transaction, the feeling which leads the president to approve the sale is undoubtedly to a large extent humanitarian. It can hardly fail to recall to him his great war relief labors in Europe.

The widespread floods, of course, have made matters much worse. The government appears to have taken hold of the situation with creditable energy. But the vast distance and the imperfect means of communication hamper its efforts. Thus Northern China has great supplies of food while Southern China starves. The Communist uprisings have accentuated the misfortunes of the people. The wheat sent from the United States will help, if it can be efficiently distributed. But starvation in this great empire of the East is beyond the reach of temporary remedies. What is needed is firm and orderly administration; and this, unfortunately seems to be as far off as ever.

TERRIBLE ROAD MANNERS

Good automobile driving is essentially a matter of good manners. They are one and inseparable, suggesting that "distinction without a difference."

If more good manners among motorists would make more good drivers, and that would be inevitable, users of the highways and streets would desire nothing more than a great rebirth of civility and strict adherence to the rules of etiquette.

Is not the need of the hour better drivers rather than better motor cars? Indeed, the greater power and sensitivity of the latest automotive creations seem somehow to bring out all that is worst in the manners and habits of the lunatic fringe of the motoring world.

Automobiles of current design have been perfected to a point at which a minimum of skill, judgment and common sense should be adequate to make them fool and accident proof. Yet engineers who labor with a view to greater efficiency and safety have found that the 10 per cent of drivers who cause 99 per cent of accidents manage to make the worst possible use of the new facilities put at their disposal.

So while motor cars improve, motoring manners grow worse and the traffic death rate mounts.

PREDICTING CATASTROPHES

Science has accomplished great things for the protection of man from the calamities visited on the earth by nature. These disasters it cannot always prevent, but often it succeeds in warning the threatened populace in time to prevent loss of life and reduce property loss.

Science has been able sometimes, but not always, to predict the occurrence of volcanic eruptions. All of the recent disturbances were foreseen and the imperiled areas warned. There is little danger today of loss of life from volcanic activity and when it does result it is usually due to carelessness or the refusal of illiterate natives to heed warnings.

While the element of superstition in these belchings from the bowels of the earth has largely disappeared, to be supplanted by fascinated curiosity and scientific study, the spectacle of the earth emitting molten material from its unknown interior continues to attract widespread attention.

Government and other agencies have succeeded quite as well in sounding warnings of approaching floods and storms as in their forecasts of volcanic eruptions. Shipping, aviation and agriculture are guided by daily weather reports, after transmitted by radio, and the owner of a storm cellar knows hours before when he is likely to occupy it.

Man cannot still the storm quell the raging flood nor battle the volcano, so he places himself beyond their reach.

CITIES DO NOT ASK FEDERAL RELIEF

It is quite evident that most of the cities in the United States have determined to get along this winter without asking for federal relief for the poor and the unemployed. At least that is their determination at the present time. The New York Times has been making a survey of the country, and telegrams from the mayors of many municipalities indicate a keen desire to paddle their own canoe if it be at all possible. Most of them take the ground that it is their duty to look after their people and to call for outside help only as a last resort.

Central boards and community chests are to be utilized in employment aid. Philadelphia has a fund of $3,000,000 to be carefully distributed by the Lloyd committee; Boston is to spend $6,000,000 in much the same way; Cleveland has set aside $2,400,000 for the purpose; and so it goes all along the line. Generally speaking, the cities plan to co-operate with counties and states in carrying out extensive public works and in assuring continued employment rather than resort to doles. In other words, they favor the Hoover policy of taking care of the poor and the unemployed.

OLD REMEDIES STILL HOLD GOOD

In the stress of these depressed times many folks have almost lost their heads in seeking some method by which we can come back out on the plane of normal times. Freak methods, isms, panaceas, legislation and all that sort of thing are just so much delay in the path of prosperity. The old remedies still hold good and it is not by hitting on something new but by getting back to the old, the sound and fundamental principles upon which America was founded, that we are going to work out our future.

Hard work, sacrifice, honesty, privation, saving, management and the principles of the Christian religion are the rules for success which our forefathers used to conquer a wilderness and lay the foundation for the greatest nation in the world today. Prosperity brought with it the dreams of short cuts to fame and fortune. America chased the bubble until it burst and now most of us are setting down trying to think of some short cut or scheme to get back on prosperity's road again. We need rather to get back sound common sense.

The world has changed but the principles upon which civilization was founded have not changed. The inequalities under which we are now chafing are the result of our disobeying the fundamental principles listed above. Instead of further fooling ourselves by following some of the many who are proposing unsound ideas about the return of prosperity, let's get back to the old remedies. They will still hold good, if we but apply them.—News, Lenoir City, Tennessee.

I Set My Thumb Against a Blade
The Blood Gushed Forth
The Wound Healed Itself

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I set my thumb against a knife's sharp blade. The blade slipped and its steel cut deep into the flesh. There was sudden pain, and my flesh seemed to pause in shocked surprise. I snatched away the knife and the red blood followed—and dripped, and gushed and fell. I poured iodine upon the wound, and it stung fiercely, and then I wrapped it in white gauze and tried to forget it. But all that day I bled and it pained me, and I feared it was infected and I would have trouble with it.

But the next morning, when I unwrapped the bandage—apprehensive—I found that already it was beginning to heal. And it was healing from within! The mouth of the small wound was open, but the deeper recesses were already joined. There was no ache; there was no fester.

Unordered, watchful, voluntary, a part of myself had already begun to heal the wound made by that sharp and alien steel. I had no part of it. I did not do it. Something within me, some inner health, had gone silently to healing my wound—and before the week was ended it was but a new scar and barely a memory.

And, were all my wounds to heal so easily, life would be sweeter than it is.

But the wounds of my pride fester and torment me. Superficially they heal, but deep within they throb and give me no rest. And when they heal at last they leave an ugly scar behind.

But the wounds of regret take years in the healing. And sometimes, when I think I am wholly well, I feel a reminiscent twinge where the knife struck home.

But the wounds that no man can see are the deepest of all, and only the great antiseptic, Time, can heal them at last. For the mind is more foolish than the body, and it is appeased and cannot be persuaded that all is well and that wounds will heal themselves if only you let them be. And when shall I be as wise as the uncomplaining health, that so silently, so efficiently, went swiftly to work when I set my thumb against a knife's sharp blade?

ON BELITTLING OTHERS

Are you one of those despicable characters who seek to undermine a fellow worker with your mutual employer?

If not with the employer, then with the boss of the department you'd like to head yourself?

By ingratiating yourself with the superintendent or boss you try to make another's position less secure.

You want that job so badly that you do not hesitate to put his job in jeopardy if, by so doing, you can advance your own prospects.

How often do you comment favorably on a co-worker's accomplishment?

And do you not frequently accept commendation for work which should be credited to another?

Of course it is natural to try to advance in your work.

But be fair enough to win by merit, not by stealing what belongs to some one else.

If you gain advancement because of the good work of another you could not keep the coveted position for very long.

You could not retain the reputation you have falsely established and would be the loser in the end.

Twenty years ago there was a song entitled "Are You Sincere?" It was a tuneful melody, but the question was only for song-writing purposes.

Sincerity beams from the eyes of the sincere man or woman; it is an ingredient of every reputable product we buy; it is woven into the clothes we wear; it is expressed in the tone of voice, the carriage of the body, the words we choose, and the smiles we give.

"Are You Sincere?" is a needless question, because insincerity stands out so glaringly that it needs no label.

Harvey, Seeking Presidency, Offers Spice For Campaign

Former Figure In Free Silver Campaign Has Many Odd Policies For Country But Is Not Expected To Get Any Votes In Electoral College

William H. "Coin" Harvey, whose name was associated with William Jennings Bryan's free silver campaign, is the first 1932 candidate nominated for the presidency, having been named at a national convention of his own political organization, the Liberty party, meeting in Arkansas. The country expects both Harvey and his platform, which embraces a proposal for elimination of taxation and an elaborate socialistic scheme for managing the nation, to provide entertainment and a certain pictorial interest in the coming campaign, but sees no likelihood that they will make any impression on the Electoral College.

"Some day, maybe," thinks the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, "we will have no taxation, but just at present, as we try to figure out a way to meet the last tax statement, we can't seem to get very enthusiastic about Coin's salvation program. However, he offers a pleasant picture, and a pleasant picture always is something to detract from this serious business of living." The PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE feels that "not even his most optimistic follower will be likely to see the slightest chance for Harvey to set aside either of the old parties in a hurry, but perhaps he will lend picturesque to the campaign."

The chances of the success of his party are nil, but if he retains his present vigor, he will be an entertaining figure, and one who has not been called the CHARLESTON (W. Va.) DAILY MAIL, while the YAKIMA DAILY REPUBLIC, observing that "General" Coxey who also was prominent many years ago, is now active in politics, remarks, "It seems strange that two men such as these, both temporarily prominent 40 years ago during a period of financial stress, should be alive to catch the public eye when the country is going through another such period." The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR suggests that "Coin Harvey comes forth with a platform representing the dreams of his 30 years in the Ozarks and declares for almost a complete reorganization of government administration. That paper adds that "it must have seemed like old times to the 'hermit' to find that after the platform put forward by himself was adopted by acclamation it was attacked as having been railroaded through."

"As might be expected of the company of political radicals of many shades which got together in Arkansas," states the PORT HURON TIMES-HERALD, "there was a good deal of bitter talk and in the end the party was not nearly so radical as a lot of the delegates desired to make it. All of which indicates that the combined wisdom and sense of the people of this country is likely to be found in good deal more conservative than the attitude of the various individuals who would seek to make it." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL is convinced that "what will blast Harvey's hopes is the fact that it is well nigh impossible to form any new party in this country, because of the inability of the radical and liberal groups to agree upon any kind of platform."

The platform of the party, the work of its standard bearer, as viewed by the DALLAS JOURNAL, is a humdinger, even with its details but tentatively outlined. That major plank which calls for abolition of taxes is a knockout. If Candidate Harvey can convince the masses that this can be done and that others of his revolutionary ideas can be made effective he is as good as elected in 1932 and, if he likes, for life. The SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) UNION suggests that "with the ticket elected and this program adopted, there should be no reason for further work or worry. Everybody could sit back in peace, happiness and contentment. That paper continues, "Perhaps he hasn't thought of everything yet. As the campaign, which still has more than 14 months to go, develops, he may work out other ideas which will aid in speeding up the millennium."

"The Liberty party of America will be well-nigh forgotten when the tumult and the shouting of the new campaign get fairly under way, in the opinion of the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES, which, however, says of opposition to the two major parties, "Some day there may be discontent and leadership sufficient to bring victory to a new party, but that day seems distant." Viewing the organization as a survival of Populism, the ABILENE REPORTER holds that "most of the best in Populism has been written into law and what remains is not sufficient to make a dent in the country's political consciousness." The TOLEDO BLADE agrees that there is no basis for betting that the venerable and still zealous Mr. Harvey will get any votes in the next Electoral College. "The MERIDIAN STAR declares, 'The Coin Harveys come and go periodically. They have their little place in the sun for a while, then fade away. They leave no impress—no lasting benefits, for the simple reason that their plans and panaceas are impossible.'"

"The revision of the monetary system of the country which the Harvey convention demanded," observes the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "is to comprise the free coinage of silver as 'co-ordinate money' with paper as currency and not as redemption money. This is only appropriate, considering 'Coin's' performance as an economist. Memory goes back to his 'Financial School,' which gained a wide circulation 35 years ago at the time of the first Bryan presidential campaign. The generation that read that remarkable work has greatly diminished in numbers. Great changes have occurred since the book made its appearance, and abetted the Bryan candidacy. 'Free silver' has been several times rejected by the American electorate. Now, however, there is somewhat of a silver revival growing in part out of the demonization of the white metal in the east."

Pointing to a change in the attitude of the public, the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD records, "There is this time no popular demand for 'free silver' as a cure. But financiers and economists of the highest standing, at home and abroad, are deeply concerned in the price of silver, its bearing on general prices, and its depressing effect upon trade. The United States Senate last February adopted a resolution asking the president to summon an international conference on silver, but Mr. Hoover, apparently out of sympathy with its purpose, has taken no action."

When Culbertson, Whitehead, the New York Whist Club and the other expert Contract Whist exponents become involved in a war concerning Demand bids, Forcing bids, Leads and what have you? Signals, the devices of the game may be shudder and count the cost of present and future libraries of Whist.

Contract, which is rapidly supplanting auction bridge, is as yet in a state of experimental development. The experts are agreed as to some of the fundamentals, such as the necessity of what they call the "dummy" system by which, if possible, one side or the other can get the contract to play a hand at a game-going bid. Of conventions or methods for reaching such a bid there are enough to give the average player brain fever.

Among the most disputed of the conventions are the one and two club bids, the first to tell that the bidder has a strong three suit hand and the second to show to the world that the bidder has no clubs at all, at all. Despite the seeming lunacy of such proceedings they are seriously advocated by some experts, though ridiculed by others. A recent innovation is the psychic bid, which when employed by a novice seeking to deceive his opponents, usually results in complete disaster.

Those are samples of the many points in dispute among the dozen or more great intellects who regard themselves as the ultimate authority on the game that now absorbs the attention of millions of Americans every afternoon and evening. Some day, perhaps, the experts will get together, and will then standardize contract by rules and customs which players of the common or run-of-mine variety can understand and follow intelligently.

But the game is a lot of fun and so are the wordy disputes.

Voting Machines Would Aid Election Boards Next Tuesday Night

Election officers are going to earn their stipend this election. When they close the polls at seven o'clock on the night of September 15, there is going to be plenty of work to do tabulating the returns and if your wife is on the board, don't expect her home until well after midnight.

With 57 candidates on every ballot, plus the usual ward and precinct officers to be filled, such as aldermen, constables, judges and inspectors of elections, with the tally having to be put down for each candidate and then return sheets made out in triplicate, the job promises to be one that will keep the boards busy for hours after the polls close. This is one election when voting machines would have been a convenient thing for Lawrence County and New Castle. Instead of waiting hours for the returns, the boards would have had the totals inside of fifteen minutes after the polls closed and the entire city and county result would have been available within an hour from the time the polls closed.

As it is the full count will not be available until some time on Wednesday, September 16.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Tie Child In Harness For Safety

But Don't Use Rope As Punishment, Doctor Says

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head, Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Some while ago I advised against tying a toddler to punish him. There may be some exceptions. If you improvise a harness for the child of two or three, and were to drive him with you to the grocery, both of you might be happy. If, moreover, you took him with you in a rowboat, you would be sensible to have him tethered by a rope as a means of safety in emergency. But he would not, of course, consider such as punishment.

There is a place for tying young children, so long as tying is not interpreted by him as a form of penalty. The child beginning to stand and climb may not be safe in a high chair or a baby carriage unless well secured by some stout device. A mere strap about the child's waist is hardly safe, for he easily can slip out of it. There should be straps over his shoulders. Anyone can easily improvise a harness which will be dependable. It can be made of cloth. Good ones can be bought. Be sure they are strong.

The child from eight months to a year or more may, when put outside for a nap, climb up and fall out of his crib or carriage, be so interested in looking around as not to go to sleep. The right kind of harness which will hold him down when applied before he has acquired the habit of getting up will make him remain in a prone position without resistance from him. The important thing is to take measures early enough before he develops the habit of getting up when tucked away for a nap. A good, vigorous spank might work, but for the child of this age it may not be advisable as a means of keeping him down. In the first place, with him all bundled up, his bare bottom is hard to get at; and in the second place he will pretty readily respond unemotionally to means of holding him down if applied early enough. On the other hand, nothing may be better than a good spank to keep the toddler from getting up after being tucked away or sent to bed. Children in motion won't sleep, neither will they stay up on their soles.

Tying fast the nighties or blankets of the child under six or eight months may prove workable, but it has obvious dangers. The important thing is that the child is made secure and cannot get up, and that he grows used to being held down early enough not to be stirred into rage by some means.

Always work for good results with the least amount of annoyance and the greatest comfort to the child; but by all means get results.

Without Clue In Death Of Police Chief By Ambush

(International News Service)
BERNARDSVILLE, N. J., Sept. 9.—Although scores of persons were questioned far into the night, authorities today were without a clue as to slayers of Police Chief Charles Cavanaugh. He was shot from ambush early Tuesday.

Cavanaugh's murder was believed due to his relentless war on bootleggers, but it was learned today a young woman had been questioned by police as to her acquaintance with the police chief. The authorities, however, denied that they were investigating the theory a love rival had shot Cavanaugh.

Car Of Former Local Man Strikes Youth

P. M. Bartholomew, formerly a well known druggist of New Castle was the victim of an unfortunate occurrence on the Franklin Highway near Harrisville Sunday evening when his car struck Ellsworth Hetrick, 19, injuring him so badly that he died.

The first indication Mr. Bartholomew had of any trouble was when the glass in his right hand door shattered on him. Stopping his car he found that the handle of the door had been torn off and had gone through the windshield of the car following. It was then that Mr. Bartholomew learned that the car had struck a pedestrian.

He immediately went into Harrisville where the body of the boy was taken and gave officers the information they wanted as to himself. It is thought that the lights of the car following Mr. Bartholomew reflected in the rear vision mirror and partially blinded him. He states that he did not see the man walking on the roadway at all.

Mr. Bartholomew is now located in Franklin where he conducts a drug business.

Clothier had made several successful "dead stick" landings before the crash. Maxwell was instructing Clothier and it was believed his pupil misjudged the distance in attempting to land. Overrunning the field and striking the quarry, Clothier was graduated from Swarthmore in 1928 with honors.

White Is Assistant Manager Of I. N. S.

Changes Made In Personnel Of News Telegraph Service

Over 2000 Papers Are Connected With News Organization

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Joseph C. Connolly, general manager of International News Service and Universal Service, announced today the appointment of Martin A. White as assistant general manager.

"Marty" White is general editor of Associated Press. His resignation from Associated Press becomes effective on September 21, when he will join the editorial board of International News Service and Universal Service.

For 14 years White held the post of news editor of Associated Press and in 1926 was promoted to the position of chief of the morning and evening wire and feature reports of Associated Press.

"Mr. White will have complete charge of the program of expansion of International News Service and Universal Service," said Mr. Connolly. "His associates will be Barry Paris editor of International News Service, and H. H. Stansbury, editor and manager of Universal Service. For 20 years he has enjoyed the confidence and admiration of the entire newspaper industry throughout the world.

"The millions of newspaper readers here and abroad who depend upon International News Service and Universal Service for the most accurate, the fastest, and the most comprehensive report of the news of the day, are certain to find that our dispatches will also be most interestingly written. A group of the most distinguished correspondents in the capitals of the world will augment the famous staff of these news-gathering organizations.

"The wire services are now associated with the largest newspaper feature organizations in the world. King Features Syndicate, which controls International News Service, Newspaper Feature Service, and Premier Syndicate, and with Central Press Association, the American Radio News Corporation, International News Reel, International N-lustrated News and the Hearst Radio Service. The executive board of these enterprises includes J. D. Gortowksy, Walter Greene, Walter Hovey, Jack Lait, Dr. Alexander Black, John Brogan, Leslie Eichel, G. Stuart Hopkins, W. G. H. Finch, Emil Gough, Clark Kinnaird, S. S. Paquin, Arthur Pfrommer, Frank J. Night, Thomas Weir and Bradley Kelly.

Mr. Connolly has called a convention of these and other syndicates, news reel, radio and wire executives for Friday, September 11, at New York City.

More than 2,000 newspapers published in 29 different languages in 57 different countries rely on these organizations for the news and feature elements in their columns.

Discredit Reports Butler Will Head Hoover's Campaign

Washington Circles Deny Ex-Senator Butler To Head Republican Campaign

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Published reports from Boston that Ex-Senator William M. Butler of Massachusetts has been asked by Hoover leaders to conduct the next campaign as chairman of the Republican national committee, were discredited here today.

No consideration has been given the matter, it was stated at the White House on behalf of the president.

Butler was chairman of the committee in 1924 and conducted the campaign which elected Calvin Coolidge. He had so many differences with party leaders in that campaign that observers here do not believe that he will be selected to manage the 1932 campaign.

During recent revolutionary activities in Cuba it is said a man on the streets was in almost as much danger of being shot as if he were an innocent bystander on the streets of New York.—THE SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION.

National Farm Outlook

If the federal farm board were not made up of fairly well-seasoned timber, used to the blowing of violent winds from many directions at once, it would doubtless have reached a state of distraction long before this.

There has not been a day since the summer of 1929 that the board has not been denounced, criticized, warned, urged, advised to do this or that, or told to resign. In such a babel, perhaps the really strange thing is that many more errors of judgment have not been made.

As this is written, the excitement is chiefly over the barter of stabilization corporation wheat for Brazilian government coffee; the desperate efforts to hold down the production of cotton, either this year's crop or next year's, and proposed sales of wheat for the benefit of Chinese flood and famine victims.

It is suspected that other "special sales" of wheat and cotton are under consideration, for it must be recalled that when the farm board announced that not more than 60,000,000 bushels of wheat would be sold before next July, it specifically excepted special "deals" with foreign governments.

The Brazilian trade of wheat for coffee brought out an instant burst of criticism. The coffee trade complains that it was not consulted and that this government coffee will be demoralizing coffee prices for the next 18 months. The grain trade complains that our wheat going into Brazil will displace that much Argentine wheat, which will have to be dumped somewhere else, thereby cutting down our own export sales by the same amount. The ship owners complain because they may not get the transportation of the wheat to Brazil.

The fact is, these methods of unloading stabilization wheat will help the general situation only if the wheat will be consumed by somebody who otherwise would not eat any wheat.

That is not true in Brazil, for the Brazilians would buy and eat Argentine wheat if they did not eat ours. It is true, most likely, if we send wheat and flour to China, for the Chinese, suffering from no sales in consequence.

It will be true, again, if wheat is bought this winter by the relief organizations, and given to unemployed families who otherwise would be on the verge of starvation. That would be a real increase in the total consumption of wheat, and to that extent would be a help to the anxious wheat grower.

But sales of wheat that merely mean that one seller unloads at the expense of another seller will not solve any problems, except, of course, the problem of the harassed farm board and its stabilization surplus.

Pennsy Ordered To Pay $661,809.34

Capital Stock Tax For 1923 Must Be Paid Commonwealth Is Ruling Made By Court

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—The Pennsylvania Railroad must pay to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania the sum of $661,809.34, representing its capital stock tax for the year of 1923, plus interest and commissions, it was decided in an opinion handed down in the Dauphin county court Tuesday by Judge John E. Fox.

Judge Fox temporarily ended the long litigation arising out of the railroad's refusal to pay the tax in an opinion which also denied similar claims against the Steiengraber Casing Company, of Wilkes-Barre, and the Eastern Securities Corporation.

Judge Fox, in his decision, ruled that the railroad must pay $493,529.14 in tax, $189,125.87 in interest, and $44,633.34 in commissions, collected by the attorney general's department for delay in payments.

The new figures handed down by Judge Fox was a revised estimate of the previous decision in which the railroad was ordered to pay a tax of $654,539.82. In appeal was taken to the supreme court which returned the case to the Dauphin County Court for further proceedings and modification.

The legal question involved was concerned with the taxability of the stock of a domestic corporation held by the Pennsylvania railroad and the right of the state to tax a leasehold of the company in New Jersey. Should the opinion be upheld by the appellate court, the railroad may be forced to pay over to the state a sum ranging between $400,000 and $500,000.

Tonsils May Be Cause Of Defective Hearing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendenning in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Infant's Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Much the same thing can be said about the hearing of the young school child as was said yesterday about the vision.

The child may have a defective hearing which is never severely tested before entering school. It is sufficient for purposes of playing and the life of the family. But when put in competition with other children under conditions which demand careful reproduction or close understanding of sounds heard it falls down.

The child does not understand the difficulty. It has always had only one sense of hearing—its own. It has no basis for comparison with a perfect sense of hearing—does not realize that its companion who is doing so much better in its studies can hear 25 to 50 per cent better and more distinctly.

It has been estimated that there are 3,000,000 American school children who are partially deaf. Most of them are only slightly impaired, but enough to render them crippled in the race for competition and deadness is not a visible defect like lameness, and hence no allowance may be made for partially deaf children.

Certainly such children should be recognized before their school work begins, helped as much as possible, and if after treatment the defect in hearing persists, segregated so that they can be taught by special methods all together, and not in association with children of acute hearing.

Several years ago the laboratories of the Bell Telephone company perfected a machine, the audiometer, for testing the acuteness of hearing. A schoolroom of forty pupils can be tested at one time. The pupils write their responses to the same words. As the test continues the loudness of the tones change so the exact point where the hearing gets defective can be known. It is the most accurate method of testing the hearing of a large group.

Many cases of defective hearing may be due to enlarged tonsils and adenoids. Leading authorities agree that the greatest hope for preventing deafness in adults lies in finding mild cases in their earlier stages.

Pardic Boy Received Broken
Shoulder Bone In Fall
From Race Horse

At the Bainbridge horse races near Cleveland, Ohio, Jarred Pardic, of Fallon, Nevada, one of the jockeys, and a former resident of New Castle, received injuries Monday that will lay him up for a couple of weeks in the hospital.

Jarred, the young son of Harry Pardic, and related to local people, has won considerable fame for his abilities as jockey. Learning that he was to ride one of the racers on Labor Day, several local friends motored to Bainbridge and witnessed the unfortunate accident. Young Pardic's horse stumbled and the rider received a broken shoulder bone.

PASTOR'S WIFE SPEAKS

Mrs. David Daye Slepny has received great commendation from people who attended the morning service at the Mahoning Methodist church Sunday, for her splendid address on the subject of foreign missions.

Mrs. Slepny's address was a part of a program in charge of the Foreign Missionary Society of the church, of which Mrs. Alex T. Johnston is president. It was the third time Mrs. Slepny has spoken before the congregation at a Thank Offering service. She told of beginning of missionary efforts, the progress, results, etc., and the talk was interesting from start to finish.

Mrs. Johnston presided during the service and Mrs. John Waddell gave the prayer.

Lincoln School Boys-Girls Will Meet Once More

Celebration In Observance Of Fiftieth Anniversary Next Friday Night

Friday night when the boys and girls of Lincoln school in the years from its opening in 1881 to 1900 gather at that school once more to observe the 50th anniversary of the opening of that educational institution, which has turned out some very remarkable men and women, quite a number of former students, their families and friends are expected to be present.

Those who have been attending the preliminary meetings held in the past few weeks by former students of the school, have formed the Lincoln School Association of 1881-1900, which will have as its object the perpetuation of the memories of the old school by means of annual gatherings, such as the 50th anniversary on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the school.

Among the speakers on the program of the evening will be Miss Anna Perry, who is today and has been for many years one of the city's best known educational system leaders and instructors.

Tammany Hall Hurls Charge At Federal Men In New York

Claim Government Officials Are Co-operating With Gangsters, And Ask Senate Act

(International News Service) ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Tammany hall, through its official spokesmen in the legislature, today had laid the blame for the killing of children in New York City by gangsters and racketeers, squarely on the doorstep of the federal government.

A resolution sponsored by Senator Dunnigan and Assemblyman Stein, Tammany's legislative chiefs, demanded a sweeping investigation of federal officials in New York City and charged that these officials "are cooperating with racketeers instead of fellow officers of the law," and are "hand in glove" with dope peddlers.

The resolution demanded the United States Senate launch an investigation of all federal officials in New York.

Roosevelt's Plan Virtually Assured Of Being Adopted

New York State Republican State Chairman Approves Roosevelt's Relief Plans

(International News Service) ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Governor Roosevelt's $20,000,000 state unemployment relief program today was virtually assured of enactment by the special session of the legislature. Word reached the Capitol that W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, had taken the position that the G. O. P. lawmakers should not oppose the executive's proposals.

Chairman Macy's stand for the governor's program followed closely on the heels of the report of the Republican controlled legislative unemployment committee, which vigorously opposed Roosevelt's plan. It was conceded in the Capitol, however, that Macy's support of the governor's measures leaves no doubt as to their ultimate adoption by the legislature.

New Castle Woman Has Historic Coin Of Abraham Lincoln

One does not think much of a penny as a rule, but to have one that is of historic value and had once been on a string of pennies played with by Abraham Lincoln is quite another matter. Mrs. J. L. Underwood, 505 County Line street, has in her possession a large penny of 1818, which was once owned by Abraham Lincoln and which was lost by him late in the year of 1818 while he was playing with his playmate, Joseph Gentry, at his home, which is in Lincoln City, Ind. Lincoln had a number of new pennies on a string and was swinging them around, as boys will do, when the string broke and he found all but one, which he gave up looking for.

Well this penny turned up in 1882, when Mrs. J. L. Underwood, who lived on the property adjoining the

Remember Food Donation Days For Hospital

Limbs of peach, apple and pear trees are bending low under the weight of a glorious abundance of fruit. Gardens and fields have all summer produced crops more plentiful than in many past years. Housewives with foresight have been busily engaged in canning vegetables and fruits, making jellies and marmalades, to be used throughout the winter.

Because of the unusually large fruit and vegetable crop, because of the great need for donated foodstuffs at the Jameson Memorial hospital, and because the people of New Castle and Lawrence county have never yet failed to help in a civic drive, the Hospital Aide Society is looking forward with anticipation to the food donation day being planned for early November.

If each housewife would now lay away several jars of canned food to be given to the hospital on the donation days, the food gifts would fill several corridors of the hospital building, and the patients would enjoy home-made, delicious foods all winter.

Mystery Attends Death Of Youth

Coroner At Lebanon, Pa., Finds Youth Came To Death By "Gunshot" Wounds

WOUND LOCATED BY UNDERTAKER

(International News Service) LEBANON, Pa., Sept. 9.—Police here today were faced by a full-fledged mystery in the death of 13-year old Vincent Williams, of Chester, who died from "gunshot wounds" in a manner undetermined, according to the findings of a coroner's jury last night, rather than from "hemorrhages" as first believed.

First intimation that the boy had not died of hemorrhages came from a Chester undertaker to whom the body was sent for burial. He found a gunshot wound near the heart and notified authorities at Lebanon who at once opened an investigation.

The body was returned to Lebanon for an autopsy. The boy was found in the hallway of the farmhouse of Jacob Barr, eight miles from here, with blood streaming from his nose and mouth. He died shortly after and a physician pronounced the death due to a hemorrhage. No inquest was ordered held by Coroner J. Herbert Manbeck.

Investigation disclosed a rifle in the boy's bedroom, less than 20 feet from where the body was found. Barr, with whom the boy had been residing the past few months, said he attended to his farm duties as usual last Monday and was last seen going to his room to change clothes. He was later found unconscious.

The boy appeared to police, one of fourteen children of George Williams, of Chester, was adopted recently by John Barrett, a Chester garage proprietor. Barrett arranged with Barr to allow Vincent to live at the farm in the hope of remedying his undernourished and somewhat tubercular condition. Albert Hamilton, of Chester, a friend, was with him during the week-end, Barr said.

Great Audience Attends Revival

Evangelist Declares Crime Showing Increase; Meetings Continue

Dr. Oliver E. Williams declared to a great audience at the Energy Community revival last night that crime has increased in America 400 per cent since 1910, and that it has become a great national problem. In his address on Anti-Christ, the evangelist declared that Satan, the "man of sin" that "wicked one" is about to be revealed the "Son of Perdition." He further stated that as Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin Mary and conceived of the Holy Ghost, so will Anti-Christ be born of a virgin and conceived of the devil. "After Christ appears and takes the church of the first born out of the world then Anti-Christ will reign on the earth three and a half years. At the close of that period Christ will return to the earth and utterly destroy Anti-Christ with the breath of His mouth and the Brightness of His Coming."

Tonight Dr. Williams will speak on "The Mark of the Beast." Rev. E. C. Anderson, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle offered prayer.

The musical program last night was composed of request numbers. Mrs. Williams and Prof. McMurray will sing tonight two negro spirituals using their guitars. Mr. MacMurray will play a medley of hymns using It's Your Money!

Since the beginning of the campaign for City Treasurer I have advocated the payment of taxes in quarterly payments. The idea seems to have found favor, but in an attempt to discount it the argument has been advanced that this is not within the power of the City Treasurer.

Certainly it isn't, but your City Treasurer can do much to help bring about this change. It's your money you have to pay in taxes and you ought to be given the opportunity to pay them quarterly just as income taxes are paid.

I am fully aware that this change, if made, would have to be brought about by the Legislature; I am fully aware that the City Treasurer is not a lawmaking officer, but I am also fully aware that the people of New Castle want a chance to pay their taxes in quarterly payments and thus ease the burden.

If old laws were not continually being changed and new laws continually being enacted, it would not be necessary to elect legislators every other year for this purpose.

If nominated and elected I will do everything within my power to aid in bringing about the change.

Will you help me do it by voting for Members of the Board of Trustees of the Free Public Library, held their monthly meeting in the library rooms last evening.

An exceptionally fine report on the month's activities at the library was submitted by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

A tremendous gain in circulation was reported.

The gain by branches was as follows: Mahanostown, 32 per cent; South Side, 37 per cent; East Side, 44 per cent.

With the opening of the schools and the approach of cooler weather, September will no doubt show just as nice a gain in circulation as the preceding month.

Shenango Township Also Settled Early

Shenango township, which was one of the original townships of the county, and which formerly comprised a large part of the territory in Beaver county, before the formation of Lawrence, was settled at an early date.

Shenango township has always been of the most thickly settled townships in the county, back in 1877, when Everts history of the county was compiled, there were a number of people owning small farms near the city, while others lived on smaller plots of ground.

The settlement of the territory contained in the township was made as early as any in the northern and northeastern portions of the county. Until about 1820 to 1825, the settlement progressed slowly, but after that time, it became more rapid, and when the year 1840 was reached, the increase had become remarkable.

With the completion of the Pennsylvania canal and its branches, new life sprang up throughout the county, and Shenango township developed perhaps more rapidly than the outside townships, on account of its close proximity to New Castle and the canal. Its iron, and limestone deposits contributed a large share of wealth to the owners of the land.

About the year 1790, William Cairns came from Derry County, Ireland, and after landing in the United States, settled in Delaware. During his stay there, he was married to Nancy Martin, in 1792, not long after which, they moved to Westmoreland county. Sometime in 1796, the family moved further west and settled in Shenango township, on the farm which in 1877 was owned by J. R. Sherard.

Mr. Cairns planted an orchard on his place, which was the first in the neighborhood, and some of the trees stood until very recently.

The only other settler known to Mr. Cairns after his arrival was Nathaniel Squires, who lived along the Beaver river. A daughter, Rachel, was born in 1798, and was perhaps the first white child to be born in Lawrence county.

Sometime after Mr. Cairns settled, he purchased an additional three hundred acres of land, and removed to it. One of his daughters was married to Joseph Baldwin, and their daughter married George F. Gribbs, who is now living on a portion of the three hundred acre tract.

A considerable portion of the land in the southern portion of the township was bought up by Benjamin Chew, of Philadelphia, who secured it at a cost of but a few cents per acre, probably with the intention of speculating in it. He had several thousand acres, altogether, including portions of many other townships in the southern section of the county.

An Act was passed by the Legisla-some time prior to 1800. Charles Lutton also came to the district around 1799-1800. His son William came to the township in 1809 and lived until 1874.

James Wilson, who had previously lived in New Castle, removed to Shenango township in 1813. Jacob Book came from the eastern part of the state in 1799 and settled next to Charles Lutton. Members of the Book and Lutton families still reside in the county.

Samuel Baldwin came to the township in 1805 and lived to a ripe old age. Other early settlers were Philip Houk, James Chambers, and the residue became a source of profit to Mr. Chew and his son, who succeeded him in the management of the land. The younger Chew took measures to accelerate the settlement of the county, and laid out Chawton, in Wayne township.

Sometime in 1796, William Tindall, a Revolutionary soldier, came to the township and made improvements on a four hundred-acre tract of Chew land, of which he received half for settling. The first cabin he built was not on the right tract and he had to build another. Mr. Tindall was accompanied by a lad named Jack Connor, who settled on an adjoining tract.

Mr. Tindall brought his family to Shenango township in 1798 and brought with him a number of apple seeds, which he planted and established a nursery. In 1877, his son, Zachariah Tindall, was still living on the old homestead.

Robert Stewart was also an early settler, coming to the district in 1802. Jared Irwin, who settled in Hickory township in 1797-98, came to Shenango township in 1815, purchasing the land from Robert McWilliams, who lived along Big Run.

Samuel McClure settled in the township between 1797 and 1800 and built a log cabin. Archibald Cubbinson also settled in the district, both of the above named men purchasing farms from Major Isaac Craig, a Revolutionary soldier who received quite a tract in recognition of his services to his country. He was a resident of Pittsburgh. Both their log cabins stood for a number of years.

Joseph Baldwin was one of the early settlers, and also became quite prominent. He was a school teacher, served five years in the regular army, and married a daughter of William Cairns.

The R. M. Gibson farm was settled by Hugh Wilson in 1815. This farm was located just east of the city line along the Butler road. John Miller came to the county in 1800 and bought a large tract of land just south of the city along Big Run. He was killed by the fall of a tree in 1813. Among those who were with him at the time of the accident were Seth Rigby, John White, William Marshall, Benjamin White, and Abraham Perkins, who were engaged in cutting out a road.

Mr. Miller was buried in the rear of the old First M. E. Church, the site of which is now occupied by St. Joseph's church.

Seth Rigby Sr., settled in the township in 1804. James Gaston came in 1805. John Butcher came to the township in 1799, while Hugh Gaston, a brother of James, came

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

Indications are that William Reiber of 605 Allen street, is one of the very few persons, if not the only man in the city at the present time, who actually worked on a canal boat, on the Erie Canal, when this place was a port on the same. In fact he claims the distinction of having been employed as a young man on the last canal boat actually to ply on the canal. This was in the early seventies of the past century and the boat on which he was employed was the George Boyce.

Mr. Reiber remembers very vividly his work on this canal boat, which was used in transporting limestone from this city to West Middlesex. Captain John Stevenson was the owner and captained the boat. Others employed on the boat in addition to Captain Stevenson and Mr. Reiber were James Newell, George "Scotty" Moore and Henry Reiber.

Mr. Reiber, whose home in those days was on Moravia street, then an important residential district of the city, was not far from the canal and his work. Up until shortly before he was employed on the George Boyce, the canal was one of the most important links in the district between this community and the outside world.

Practically All Fish Are Killed

Coen Says Heavy Rains Flush
Old Mine Workings Scattering Death

Frank Coen, deputy game and fish warden does not believe there are any live fish, except in isolated portions of the Slippery Rock. He made this statement today as the result of inspections made Saturday and Sunday. He said one of the lone places where fish are alive is at the junction of the Slippery Rock and Wolfe creek.

He ascribes the cause of their death to mine water, although he exonerates, in his statement, mine owners of flushing the mines.

"The heavy rain soaked into the ground and in pools at the mines. Some of the pools overflowed and got into the runs."

"The sulphur water soon killed the fish and state representatives and myself interviewed mine owners," said Coen.

According to the fish and game protector the mine owners agreed to seal up some of the "old workings" to prevent the death of fish.

Some of the "workings", however, will not be sealed, Coen stated as the mine owners said they might want to work them again.

Can Hunt Ducks During October

It will be legal to hunt ducks in Pennsylvania October 1 to October 31, inclusive, according to Frank Coen, deputy game protector for Lawrence county.

Asked if there are many ducks around here, Coen answered negatively. "Once-in-a-while a few are raised, but mostly they're raised around the lake marshes and in Canada."

Scientists Will Attend Meeting Of Coal Leaders

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Scientists from all sections of the world are expected to participate in the international conference on bituminous coal to be held at the Carnegie Institute of Technology November 16 to 21.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president and leading spirit in the annual conferences, believes that the present time is especially favorable for the convocation of the bituminous conference because of the depressed condition of that industry. Contrary to suggestions principally from European scientists, plans are being completed to hold the conference on the original dates set.

The newest developments in the mechanization of the soft-coal industry will be discussed at the conference which will this year for the first time take under consideration the economic aspects of the soft-coal industry. Highlights of the meeting were expected to be the address of the foreign delegates.

MY NEW YORK BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Direct descriptions of New York never seem to convey very much. If anything of the real flavor of the town ever washes into this space it is through snapshots of New Yorkers—of PEOPLE. A picture may beat 10,000 words, but a person beats 50,000. I want you to try to see a young woman who has always seemed to me to have more Manhattan about her than the skyline in the morning.

Her name is Katherine Brush. She is about as big as a minute and she has never gone without a manicure or worn the same gown two evenings running, even in the days when higher mathematics were required to see where her rent would come from and three meals a day. She dreamed a dream of what New York ought to be like and she dreamed it so hard she made it come true.

MEN IN TWO CLASSES

She imagined that men in New York were divided, largely, into two classes: radiant, careless, confident boys who had too much money to spend spectacularly and suave, always undismayed gentlemen who appeared at 4 o'clock into the yellow vistas of Park Ave., wearing canes and worldliness and small white boutonnieres.

And those were the kinds of men she met. When her brother came down from Yale she rode with the entire college orchestra the length of Fifth Ave. atop a bus at midnight—while the air was rent with an impromptu serenade. When she fell in love it was, of course, with an immensely suave young internationalist, who sent her three orchids every day.

Katherine Brush demonstrated thoroughly that the realists are full of cheese. With one of the most romantic and totally unworkable theories of personal existence any woman ever had, she accomplished two extraordinary things: First, she lived successfully in the impossibly glittering and story-book manner she had decided would be desirable; and second, she wrote meanwhile a series of short stories which indicated that she laid aside her magic with colored glasses when she sat down at the typewriter. Her stories were often romantic, but all of them showed that she knew how to write; and she knew how to write; and she knew how to write; and she knew how to write.

Her girlhood and the years she spent in a small Ohio town remain largely blank for me, except for flashes in her stories. She arrived in Manhattan with saucer eyes and a photographic eye. In a week she knew how to dress; in a month she dressed better than anybody she knew. In six weeks she could walk into a restaurant without a man and people would look at her and wonder who she was while the head-waiter rushed her to the most desirable table. She was seldom, however, without a man; they flocked around her, fascinated by her tireless zest while hating her a little for her mind.

She wrote two novels for College Humor—and when the first installment of each was on the stands she had no idea how the story was going to end. Her writing had a quality, a singing quality, a furious nervous

Thirty-One Million Return To Schools In United States

School Term Is Constantly
Lengthening, Statistics
Of Nation Reveal

Year-round Schools Are Maintained In Several Cities Of Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Vacation's over, at America's army of school teachers and pupils totaling thirty-one millions marches again, comments the Federal Office of Education today. And a proverb through the files of the Office justifying this announcement proves almost as interesting as visiting Wonderland with Miss Alice!

To the tune of bells in buildings from the one room country school up to the consolidated schools of the city, more than 25,000,000 children will clatter into a quarter million public institutions of learning this week and next, according to the Education Office. And more than 850,000 teachers will return to their desks.

While elementary and public high schools of the country enroll upwards of 25,000,000 boys and girls, college and university registration will boost the enrollment to nearly 26,500,000. All other school registrations, both public and private, will raise the total American school population to approximately 31,000,000, more than one-fourth of the Nation's population.

The first day of school is, for the average American child, the first of 172 days of school work. The school year constantly lengthens. It now averages ten days more than in 1920.

Rural Schools Exception
Many children of school age will not, however, be included in the long September school lines, says the Office of Education. Geographical location, climate, size of school, wealth of school, and numerous other circumstances all play a part in determining the date of fall school opening and the length of the school year.

A boy or girl living in a rural community and attending a small rural school, for instance, may not start to school on the first day after Labor Day. Office of Education statistics show that the typical rural school year is 21 days shorter than the city average of 184 days. The shortness of the rural school term generally is evident in the later date of fall opening and earlier spring closing.

Children attending some rural schools, however, will go to class within the next three weeks, but their school term will be interrupted time and again both in the fall and in the spring so that they may assist in the fields. Suspension of school activity for extended periods is not uncommon in potato-raising areas, fruit sections, beet and cotton-growing localities and other rural regions where farming is the leading industry.

Year-Round Schools
To many boys and girls the ringing of school bells in September is just another routine event in their educational lives because they go to school all year around. All-year schools have been attempted in Nashville, Tennessee; Newark, New Jersey; Omaha, Nebraska; Columbus, Georgia; Alliquippa, Pennsylvania; Gary, Indiana; Lakewood, Ohio, and several other cities. And, says the Office of Education, they have been well patronized by pupils anxious to complete a four-year high school course in three years, by those eager to "make up" courses failed previously and by those who wish to take part in the summer leisure or educational opportunities schools offer.

Schools were in session practically the year round in the early days of America's city school system. About the year of 1840, vacations were short and holidays few, a study of the Education Office indicates. School years were generally divided at first into four terms of twelve weeks each, with a vacation of a week at the end of each term. In some cities all the vacation came in the summer, with the exception of about a week at Christmas. Today's summer vacation is the outgrowth of those four one-week leisure periods granted pupils.

In Europe, according to the foreign schools section of the Education Office, September is the month of vacations, so that schools generally do not open until the latter part of the month or in October. Boys and girls in Norway and Belgium go to school ten months a year and enjoy six to eight-week vacations, generally fixed by decree of the Ministry of Education.

By European standards the American schoolboy and schoolgirl lead an easy life. While American children generally have a five-day, 20 to 25 hour week, Belgian school children attend six days and spend 34 hours a week in school. And Belgium is typical of most European countries in this respect!

Star Lore

CAN'T FURNISH ESSAYS, BUT CAN BE CAREFUL

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.
Near the beginning of fall semester of high schools the writer always receives letters from students taking up general science who invite him to send them essays about the solar system. Every student should master a few simple facts about the sun and the planets. Here is what the astronomer studies regarding a planet: Its diameter, mass (amount of matter), density (the mass contained in unit volume), its axial temperature, atmosphere, if any, the general physical conditions prevailing upon the planet. As to the sun, the student should at least become familiar with sun's photosphere, atmosphere, the nature of sun-spots, and of the brilliant sun-prominences.

Motor Vehicle

Registrations

Grow In State

Pennsylvania's Increase More Rapid Than Nation As Whole, Figures Show

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Motor vehicle registrations have increased much more rapidly in Pennsylvania during the past decade than in the country as a whole, according to an analysis of statistics made public by the American Automobile Association and the National Industrial Conference Board.

Registrations of motor vehicles increased 207 per cent in Pennsylvania during the past decade while the increase for the Nation was only 160 per cent during that time. Despite the substantial increase in the number of motor vehicles in the Nation, the gross yield from license taxes on these vehicles has increased at an even greater rate, this increase being more than 190 per cent.

The increase in motor vehicle license tax, together with the even more rapid increase in tax on motor oils, was the object of a study recently conducted by the National Conference Board. The findings of this study indicated that the present high tax has had the effect of checking the rate of increase in the consumption of motor fuels, and if continued may have serious effect on the development of motor transportation in some of the states.

Plenty Of Choice Given To Voters In Primary

Plenty of choice is offered the Republican voter who goes to the polls on Tuesday, September 15. While the ballot is not the largest ever printed for a local election it is of generous proportions due to the large list of candidates and the number of offices to be filled.

A New Castle voter gets a chance to cast his ballot for sixteen offices, not counting the ward and precinct offices to be filled. The first office on the ballot to be filled is that of Judge of the Supreme Court. Two candidates are on the ballot for this place.

The second office on the ballot is that of county commissioner. Eleven candidates are named, out of which the voters must nominate two. For county treasurer, the next on the

Connecticut Town Benefitting From Eugene Hat Fad

Danbury, Conn., Hat Factories Working Night And Day On Big Orders

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Curious as it may seem, the revival of an operetta in Paris lifted the New England city of Danbury, Conn., out of the depression and set its hat factories running day and night.

According to "The Business Week", in an article quoted by the New England Council, the saucy little bit of felt called the Eugene hat, came into fashion in Paris during the revival of an Offenbach operetta. The fad quickly spread to America and at Danbury, Conn., which claims the honor of making America's first hats, the hat factories worked overtime to spread the Eugene hat.

Of the 18 factories in the country equipped to fill the demand for this type of hat, Danbury, Conn., has 13 factories running full blast in day and night shifts. Some workers average 17 hours daily and make an average weekly salary of $140 per week, it was stated.

Many Here Are "Revolver Crazy"

Visit Police Chief Horner To Get Permit; Many Turned Down

Chief of Police Horner, while discussing the Wilkins' firearms law here today remarked that "I cannot understand why so many people want to carry a revolver. No one is going to get a permit unless he can show valid reason for carrying a revolver."

He said that about two dozen persons have applied to him for the right to carry a revolver. Of the two dozen applicants approximately five persons have been given the privilege. Persons engaged in protecting money or who have to carry big sums for firms or banks can secure permits.

When a person is given the police chief's sanction he fills in three cards. One is kept by the man who secures the gun, the other is kept by the dealer and the third is filed with a state department.

In case of a crime and the gun is found it is very easy for the authorities to check back. The Wilkins firearms bill is aimed at "racketeers", bandits and yeggs.

Mile And Half Less Dirt Streets To Worry Treser During Winter

Councilman Stanley Treser as superintendent of the department of streets will have 49.02 miles of paved streets and 47.46 miles of dirt thoroughfares to take care of this winter as the result of the improvement program which has been launched and is practically complete. Approximately 1.36 miles of concrete paving was laid this summer and 760 feet of brick repaving laid.

Before contracts were let by city council there was a total of 96.58 miles thoroughfares in the city. Of this total 47.76 miles were paved and 48.82 miles unpaved. As soon as the city accepts the streets there will be more paved mileage than dirt streets.

The avenues and streets paved with their lineal footage follows: Fairmont 1425; Meyer, 1425; Laurel, 1754; Ray, 711; Pearson, 880; Blaine, 687; Lyndal, 440 and South Mercer, 469.

City Engineer Miller explained that two stretches of cartway, 18 feet wide, were paved with concrete and he said this would average 1754 feet in mileage. County Line, repaved with 760 feet of brick, is not included in the figures.

Two Added To The Staff At College

Other Faculty Appointments To Be Announced This Week

(Special To The News.)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 9.—With two new faculty appointments already known, announcement was made at Westminster college yesterday that additional appointments would be made known early this week. In all probability, there will be three or four new faculty members will be added to the staff.

Mrs. A. Bay appointed professor of the secretarial course in the department of economics and business administration, has been at Westminster doing important clerical work in connection with student admissions for the last three weeks. Mrs. Bay comes to Westminster from Marshall college, Huntington, W. Va., where she was head of the secretarial department for two years.

Miss Esther N. Love of Macon, Ga., made director of physical education for girls, will probably arrive on the campus early next week.

Miss Love is a graduate of the University of Missouri, comes to Westminster from Hannibal-La Grange college, Mo.

Both Mrs. Bay and Miss Love will be chaperons in sorority houses near the campus. This year, Mrs. Mary C. McConaha, assistant professor of public speaking, will also be a sorority house chaperon. Other chaperons will be announced later.

And The Matrimonial Bureau, Boasting Of Five Marriages A Month For Nine Years, Agrees To Help—At A Cost Of $10 To Register And $90 Additional When The Knot's Tied

HOW IT'S DONE AT A MATING OFFICE

Here is application blank to Adler's Matrimonial bureau, filled out by Ethelda Bedford, under the name of Mary Doran; below, prospective "picture brides" in the reception room of a matrimonial society in Detroit

By ETHELDA BEDFORD (Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—No matter how your lonely heart pines for a mate, the matrimonial bureau here, where romance, love, wealth and marriage are promised for a fee, are skeptical about doing business with you.

"Bluebeard" Harry Powers—who penned honeyed words to women then lured and murdered them on his farm near Clarksburg, W. Va.—obtained his names through a Detroit agency. Since the publicity attendant upon Powers' troubles, the matrimonial bureaus, known as refuges of the lonely, have become chary of prospective clients.

Under the name of "Mary Doran" I applied at several of New York's mail-order mating sources, which advertise in the "Personal" columns of some nationally circulated newspapers and magazines.

Convinced One While a number of bureaus failed to answer telephone calls or mail, some said the "manager" is out this week. Finally I called at the Adler Matrimonial bureau and confided "I want a husband"—and convinced them.

"I want a husband," I said, modestly, to the shrewd-eyed manager of this bureau, which boasts of bringing lonely-hearted people into the bonds of matrimonial bliss at the rate of five marriages per month for the past nine years—and also at the rate of $100 per person!

His eyes darted from my feet to my head. "Have you a job—or any money saved?" he asked.

"A job," I answered.

He smiled and reached for a large ledger.

"What kind of a man have you in mind?"

"A good man. . . maybe a professional man. Have you one?"

"See all these names?" he opened the ledger, whose pages were thickly listed with names, addresses and descriptions. "They're names of women we've registered. Now, this ledger," touching another thick gray-backed book, "is filled with names of men—all wanting wives. Wealthy, healthy men. Some handsome—talented."

Ten Dollars Down My eyes rested on the men's ledger.

"It'll cost you $10 to register with us," his eyes going to my purse, on my lap.

"Ten dollars?" I repeated.

"That takes care of one effort in arranging meetings, postage, telephone calls. You know you want a man with money, don't you?" He was solicitous, and fingered the ledger of men's names and addresses.

"Now, how would you like for me to fix up a date for you with a doctor—say tonight? He's written to several of our members, but hasn't found one he likes enough to marry yet. Maybe you'll be the right one."

We wondered for you. He's here now. Won't have to correspond, you know. Maybe you're just his type.

"What's he like?" I asked.

"Not bad looking. Got a good practice in Minnesota, some real estate, little money saved—and would have a lot more with the right girl."

"That sounds good, that description."

Ninety Dollars Later "Just cost you $10 to meet him and to enroll with us. Maybe he'll marry you—and then you'll owe us $80."

"Ninety dollars?"

"But, if you're sweet to him and he likes you a lot, maybe he'll pay that for you" was the come-on.

"We have names and addresses of men from Maine to California, Connecticut to Florida, who want suitable wives. We can give you their addresses, and your address to them if you register." His eyes traveled to my purse again. "Just $10."

We couldn't decide.

"Listen, why don't you sign up? I'll tell you what. We can have the doctor come here to the office to meet you—here." He pointed to an over-stuffed couch. "Sure!" Lots of other members meet here

WHERE 'BLUEBEARD' FACES TRIAL IN LOVE MURDERS

BETTY'S BABY SISTER NET STAR

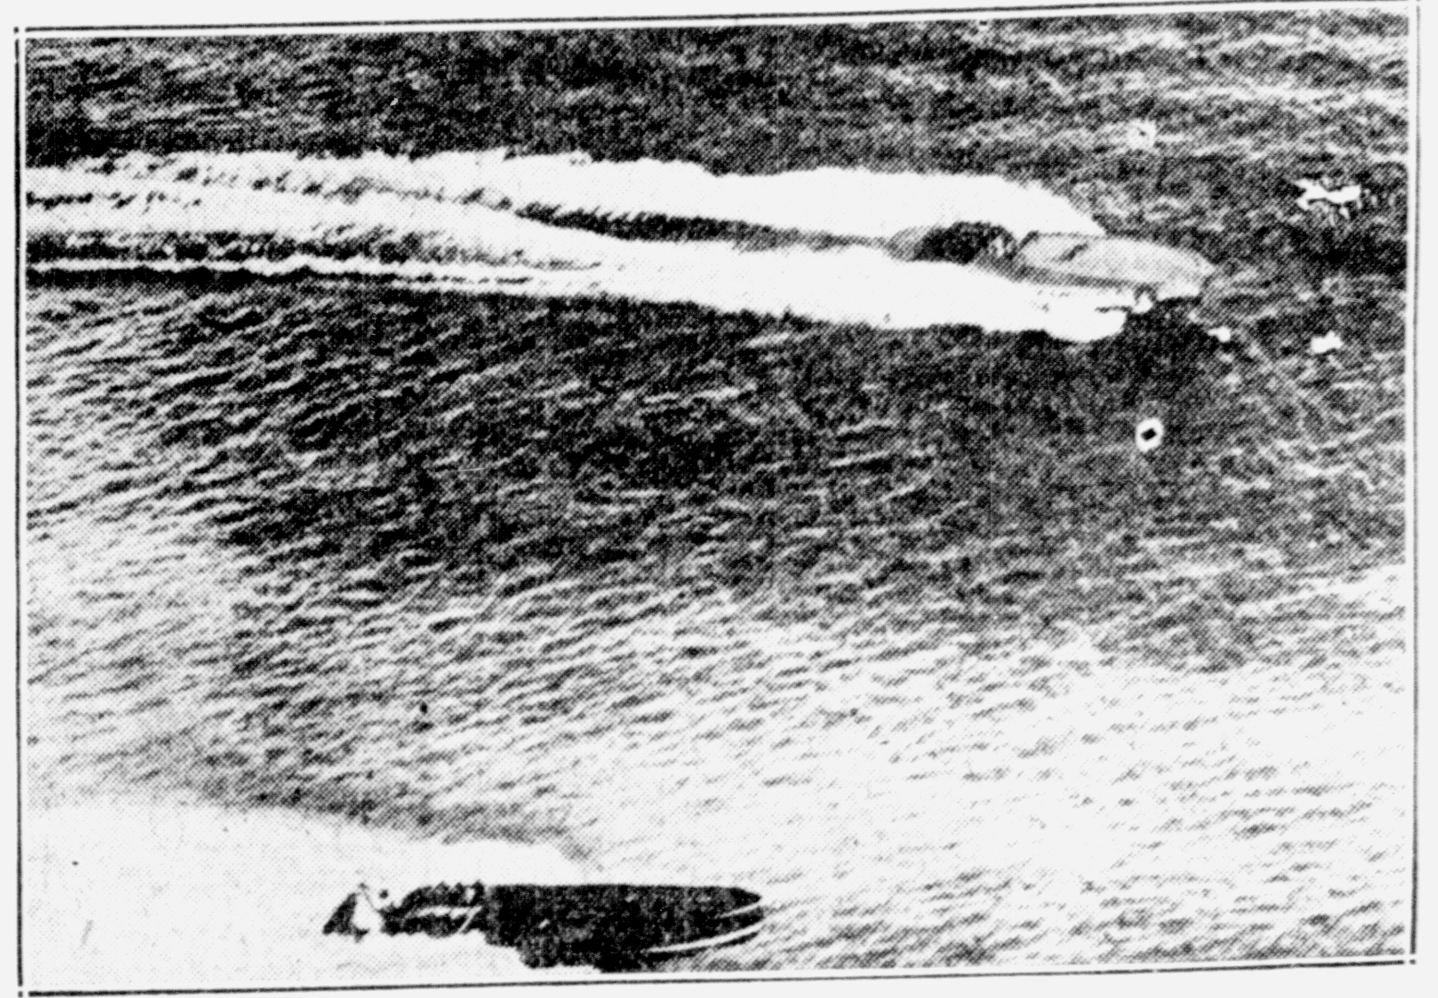

When Miss England Showed the Way

View of the federal building at Clarksburg, W. Va., where Harry F. Powers, inset right, styled a modern "Bluebeard," will be tried for the slaying of Mrs. Esta Eicher, and her three children, of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Worcester, Mass., after a correspondence romance with the two women. Inset left is Judge John C. Southern, who, it is expected, will hear the trial.

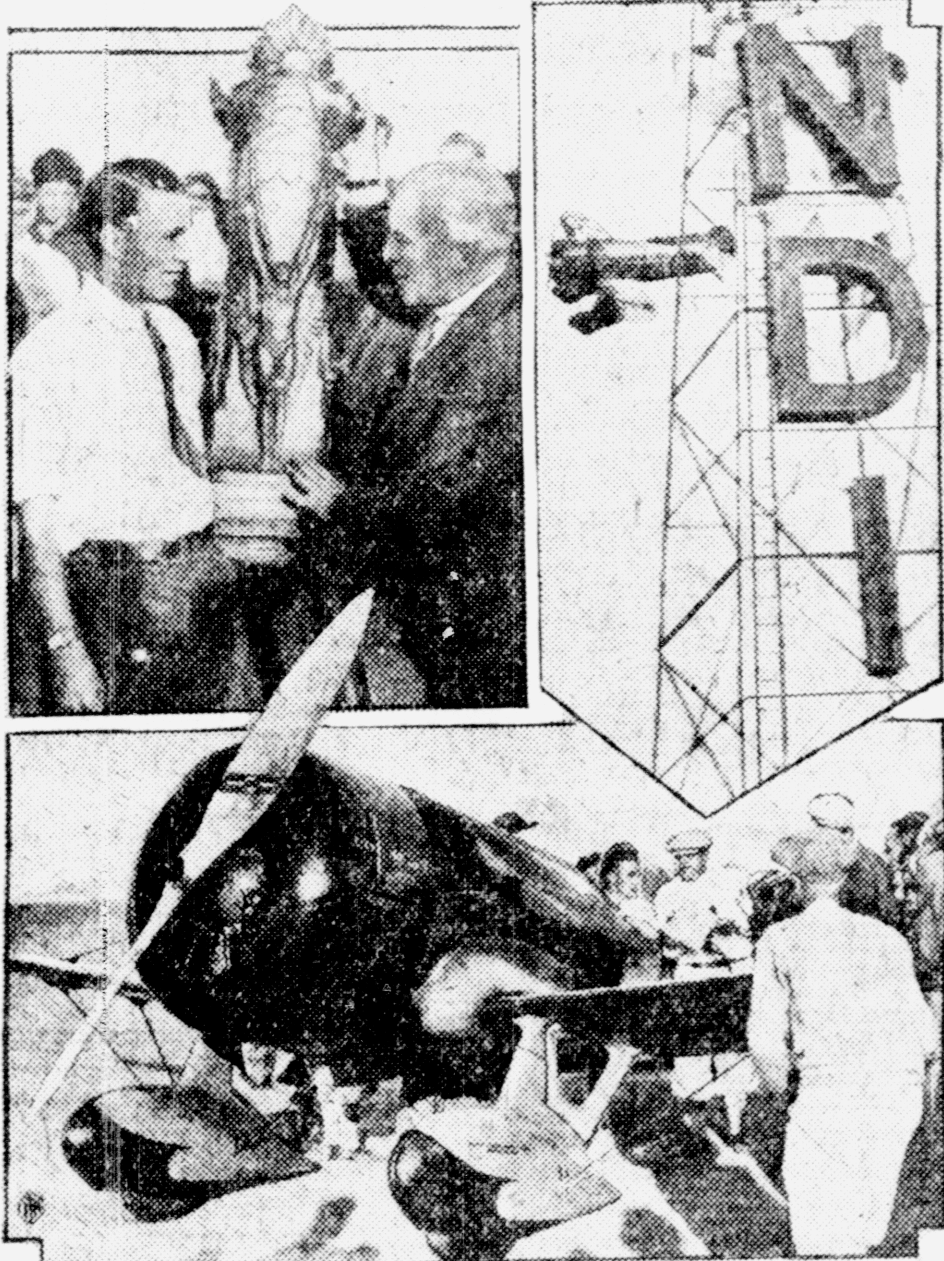

Little Pat Nuthall, baby sister of Betty Nuthall, former American national singles tennis champion, breaks into tennis headlines by competing in girls' junior singles division of the Malden open tourney in London, England. Betty is acting as tennis teacher for her baby sister who shows much promise.

This airview of the start of the Harmsworth Trophy Race on the Detroit River at Detroit shows "Miss England II" (top) leading Gar Wood's "Miss America IX" over the starting line. The British entry, driven by Kaye Don, led all the way during the thirty mile race, setting a new course record of 89.913 miles per hour. "Miss England II" holds the world's record of 110 miles per hour.

New Speed King Crowned

Winning the Thompson Trophy with comparative ease, Lowell Bayles, of Springfield, Mass., was crowned king of the speed pilots at the Cleveland air races. Bayles flew his Gee-Bee racer at an average speed of 236.239 for the hundred miles. This was more than 35 miles faster than last year's time. Upper left shows Bayles receiving the Thompson trophy; right, rounding a pylon and lower the victor in his tiny ship.

Mrs. Noll won her divorce on the grounds that her husband had given her only $50 since their wedding, last December.

Sen. Bingham Uses Air to Keep Up Public Interest

Six-Foot Yankee Solon from Connecticut Leaves Oratory to Colleagues While He Attracts Notice in Sky; Pilot at 42

Rangy Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut practices the doctrine that if his colleagues wish to keep their constituents informed of their personality via the use of what has been sometimes termed "hot air," or, more politely, oratory, that's all right with him. But as for this six-foot-one Yankee solon, he prefers a different kind of air—the kind traversed by airplanes. Senator Bingham, who learned to fly when he was 42, and commanded the largest U. S. aviation instruction center in France during the war, believes in using the most up-to-date methods in keeping himself before his public. And one of these is aviation. He may be pictured flying from the Capitol to a golf links in an autogyro or "standing up" with a prominent air official when the knot is tied or any number of other adventures allied with flying. He's not only an aviation enthusiast, but he's using it to good advantage politically.

London Is Alarmed by 21 Murders; 421 in New York

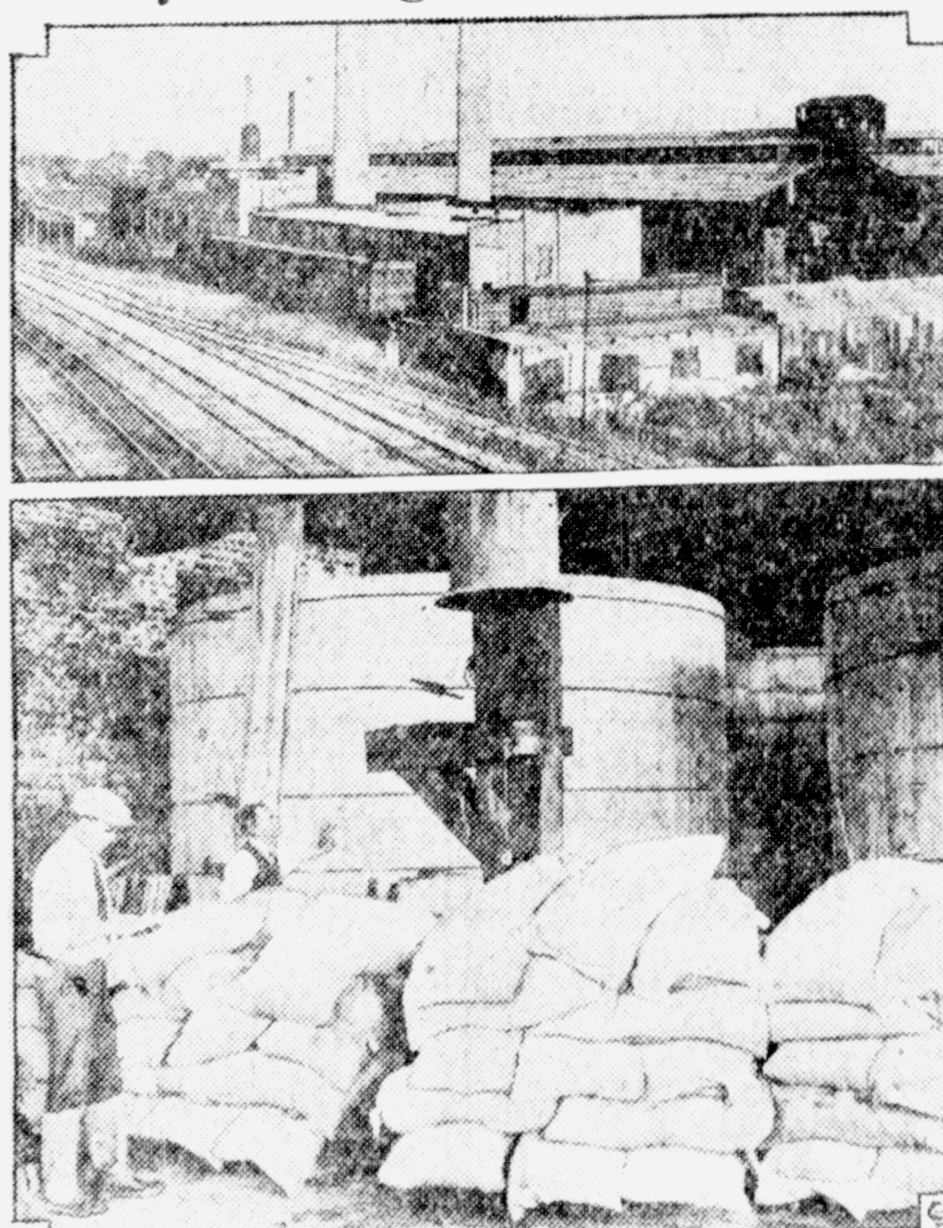

British Capital Stirred by Increase in Crime, but All but One of Its Slayers Were Punished or Committed Suicide

LORD BYNG OF VIMY SCOTLAND YARD

What would be cause for surprised satisfaction in the United States, New York, let's say, in particular, is supplying wrinkles in the brows of London's law enforcement officials. The cause of the disquietude in London is due to the fact that 21 murders were committed in 1930 in the area supervised by the London metropolitan police. That area has nearly 12,000,000 people. In New York, for the same year, 421 homicides were committed. And yet the English fret. Where all but one of the 21 slayers in London were either arrested and punished or committed suicide, the 421 murderers in New York escaped almost as a body. Out of that stupendous number, 280 arrests were made and less than 20 per cent of these resulted in convictions. Lord Byng of Vimy, London's Commissioner of Police, decries the increase in English crime, but he should look across the Atlantic if he wishes to see the underworld at its best—or worst.

Alky on Big Business Scale

One of the biggest illicit alcohol distilleries yet uncovered by Prohibition agents was raided near Chicago the other day. The "alky" cookers were using the abandoned factory (upper) which has its own railroad siding. Lower shows a federal agent with some of the stock of corn sugar used in the making of the alcohol. It is estimated that the plant produced 5,000 gallons per day. Equipment valued at $175,000 was confiscated or destroyed by the raiders.

Scout Rumors On Pinchot Cabinet

Do Not Believe Reports Of Possible Crumbling Of Cabinet

MALONE'S EXIT WAS SPECTACULAR

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—In the face of daily rumors of an impending crumble in the Pinchot cabinet, seasoned Capitol political observers today are continuing to scout the idea.

The circumstances which attended the rather spectacular exit of James P. Malone, able Allegheny county organization leader, started a steady string of resignation rumors, none of which so far has given any indication of being vindicated.

The majority of the rumors have centered about Samuel Lewis, secretary of highways, once considered the leading contender for the place which Governor Pinchot now holds. Yet those close to Lewis have observed in him a recent metamorphosis which seems to assure his place as long as he wants it.

Lewis believes in rural roads, not merely for political expediency, but as good economics. While Pinchot was basing his campaign pleas on "Drying up Pennsylvania, Cleaning up the Mess at Harrisburg" and other slogans, Lewis was urging rural roads. Not as governor as he had hoped but as secretary of highways, Lewis now has the opportunity to put his dream into effect.

Tagged for years as a fire eating cudgel swinging State official, Lewis is now believed to be one of the most tractable members of the cabinet. The sections of road to be improved in each county, with the exception of York, were selected by the Pinchot leaders. Every controversial question whether it is a switch in the improvement program or the firing of a labor boss is decided, not in the office of the secretary of highways, but in the Governor's office.

Unless Lewis should be removed in reprisal for a possible break between his sponsor, Jos. R. Grundy, and the Governor, it is doubted that he will leave the cabinet.

With the exception of three major cabinet places all other Pinchot appointees have served beneath the same banner in other capacities. They know the working of the Pinchot mind. The exceptions are John L. Hanna, recently transferred from the welfare post to Property and Supplies, John A. McSparran, Democratic independent who is secretary of agriculture, and Dr. A. M. Northrup, secretary of labor and industry.

Hanna now heads the department to which he originally hoped to be assigned. He has had a varied experience as a builder, farmer and businessman and is not expected to leave the cabinet unless he should differ too widely with the Governor on departmental policies.

McSparran is looked upon the liaison officer between the ranks of Independent Democrats and Pinchot Republicans. Always active in politics McSparran is now enjoying an opportunity that seldom comes to an actual Democrat in Pennsylvania, that of occupying a cabinet place.

Appointed to appease the claims of rival Pinchot leaders in Luzerne county, Dr. A. M. Northrup, secretary of labor and industry, is assisting in the distribution of patronage in that large department. It is there that the most marked personnel changes have been made.

Two cabinet members, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, and Walter H. Glasgow, secretary of mines, appointed by former Governor John B. Fisher still retain their places. Neither is expected to leave by resignation. Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police since 1920, ranks as a cabinet officer but the place is one in which politics plays little part.

In the former Pinchot cabinet only one member, Paul D. Wright, secretary of highways, resigned because of a disagreement with his chief. It is not believed that the record of the present cabinet will be much higher.

Stevenson Set For City Route Survey

Ready To Start Official Re-
Check Of City's 38 Delivery Routes

Semi-annual inspections of the city's 38 mail routes will commence on October 1. Postmaster Edwin Crawford announced today.

Foreman of Carriers Peter F. Stevenson, who conducts the survey, checks on the number of first, second, third and fourth class matter pieces handled in a day, the distance the carrier covers, the number of stops he makes and other informative data. One entire day is spent with each carrier.

A report of the survey is forwarded to Washington headquarters twice a year. The records are used for statistical summaries.

Plan Activities For "Y" Season

Complete Program To Be Arranged For Fall And Winter

Rev. G. S. Bennett, Rev. Samuel Maxwell, Rev. Rees T. Williams and Rev. A. J. Randles, church ministers, will convene September 15 for the purpose of discussing the coming basketball season. The quartet will guide all the church athletics at the Y. M. C. A.

Henry MacNichols, director of athletics is preparing to greet members of the wrestling squad at the Y. September 28. He believes that the members of last year's aggregation will attend the meeting. Wrestling will be one of the sports featured this fall and winter at the institution.

Plans are under way for the opening of gymnasium classes, commencing October 5 when the fall and winter schedule will become effective. Director MacNichols is preparing to have the schedule off the press Monday so that members of the gym classes can study it.

The Championship Handball tournament got under way Monday afternoon. There will be a four-some every day on the roof of the Y and spectators are welcome. Maxwell and Meermans will meet Richards and Paisley, Wednesday. J. and M. Markley will oppose Levine and MacNichols, Thursday.

Bill Thomas, boys' secretary, is preparing for a busy season of activities and repairs are under way. The swimming schedule is effective now and will last until October 25. The boys' department will follow the regular spring schedule. Swimming instead of gymnasium work will be held at the scheduled hours.

Special Program Is Being Considered To Provide For Conditions

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Through an act of the Board of Education at their regular meeting in the Lincoln High School last night students 21 years of age and over will be admitted into the local school. Of course all hinges to the fact that these students must abide by the regulations and standards of the school. They will be immediately discolored from the school if any kind of disturbance is created through their effort. The state law prohibits its students of that age attending high school and local school authorities will have no difficulty in exercising this law need it be necessary.

It is believed that all students of this age will reconsider this on the board's new plan will come to light. The plan was suggested by J. W. Offutt who desires a form of night school where plenty of industrial training can be taught. Many young men and women are out of work. A place in the school where they can have some industrial and domestic and commercial training would better the condition of the community. Upon attending these night sessions they would be kept out of undesirable places. The boys could be placed in the drafting department, sheet metal, machine shop, or carpentry shop. More of the girls would be in the cooking and sewing classes and commercial department.

It was pointed out that instructors for this night session could be employed for a very reasonable figure. A committee of three was appointed by President H. E. Helling to work with superintendent Smith in making a complete investigation of the plan. The committee is composed of H. R. Smith, J. W. Offutt, and William Bayers. A special meeting of the board will be called next week to further discuss the plan.

Pending further developments not all overaged students will be admitted into the local school. Those that are seniors will be permitted to attend and the remainder will have to wait until the committee has made its report next week.

Preparing For Armistice Day

Big Celebration To Take Place In Ellwood City On November 11

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—November 11, Ellwood City will be one of the most crowded and busiest cities in America. This is the day when the J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion of this city will be hosts to all the American Legion Posts in Butler, Beaver, and Lawrence Counties. About 25,000 visitors are expected here on this occasion.

The local post has been working all summer in arranging a program that will meet with immediate approval of citizens. The board of education has kindly consented for the legion to use the Lincoln auditorium for a special service on Sunday, September 8.

Use of the athletic field and dressing rooms has been granted on Wednesday, November 11 when the Pitt Frosh and the Duquesne Frosh will engage in a grid iron classic. This has been arranged by Dr. C. W. Hayes of this city. The game will be preceded by a mammoth parade through the principal streets of the town.

Enrollment Grows In High Schools

Junior And Senior Highs Shows Increase In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—The increase in the enrollment in the local schools is in the Junior and Senior High School and not in the grades, it was announced by Superintendent of Schools W. Ray Smith. It is surprising that there is an increase in spite of the fact that Wayne Township and Koppel pupils no longer come here. The former go to the Ellport schools and the latter to Beaver Falls where transportation is cheaper.

With the election of Miss Irene Hall and Miss Zeida, Neuman as teachers in the local schools, the teaching staff is now complete. Mr. Smith also announced that the schools are running very smoothly—as if there had been no vacation at all.

C. C. Lash a veteran army man was elected as attendance officer for the new school term.

Due to the crowded condition of the local schools now the request of the Week Day Religious Education Association had to be rejected. The association requested the use of a room in the Hartman building to hold classes. The schools will need that room this year and the board could not comply with the request. Arrangements are being made to hold the class in the First Christian church, which is near the school. The other local schools are also conducting these classes in nearby churches.

Superintendent Smith at this time was advised to continue his investigation of the city playgrounds and the playground commission for a report at the next meeting. The students in Lincoln High school will be given their opportunity this week when they buy the student tickets for the whole season which covers football, basketball and track.

Injured Athletes Source Of Worry For School Board

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—The school board is having its annual trouble with the local grid aspirants at this time. The same question always arises as to who is responsible for injuries sustained in practice or games.

The board waives all responsibility for anyone hurt in athletics, but the board takes care of any injured person. That is, there will be no doctor bills to pay, by the athletes, this service being arranged for. The board has compelled all those wishing to participating in athletic contests to have a release signed by them and their parents before anyone is admitted on the athletic field. This insures the board against a damage suit.

Ellwood Teachers Conduct General Meeting Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—The teachers of Ellwood City held a general reorganization meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Lincoln auditorium. Past president R. J. Hawke, presided over the election which resulted as follows: president, Earle K. Herbert; vice-president, Miss Mildred Sanders; secretary, Miss McDaniell; and treasurer, George Herold. This formed the Ellwood City Branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Also at this time a delegate and alternate were elected to attend a convention at Pittsburgh during the Christmas holidays. Miss Ida Cooper was chosen as the delegate and Miss Josephine Hartzell as the alternate. A resolution was passed to be one hundred percent strong for the N. E. A. and the P. S. E. A. A committee will be later appointed to make arrangements for conducting a general teachers party.

Shenango High First Opponent For Zelenople

ZELIENOPLE, Sept. 9.—Local school opened Tuesday morning, after a vacation on Labor Day. The schools opened September 1, with an increase in attendance from last year, and closed for a day's vacation, Labor Day.

Coach Sager called a meeting of the football candidates, and they began practicing at once. A large number turned out for practice, and will be put through the regular practice each evening.

The first game will be on the local field with the Shenango team of New Castle, on September 19. The schedule is a heavy one this year and a good team is expected by Sager.

The band will play at the home games, they having accomplished much in the past few months and will be an attraction at the games.

Women's Club Hears About Park Project

First Meeting Of Fall Is Held At Elk's Home On Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, the president presided over the first meeting of the new year for the Women's Club at the Elk's Home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Humphrey opened the meeting with an appropriate address and urged the presence of all members for future meetings.

Mrs. Oliver Bower, Elmer Connor, Bert Wallace, M. K. Smith and Donald Jones were new members admitted into the club at this time. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Humphrey introduced the principal speakers of the day—Borough Manager, Lowell W. Monroe and Attorney J. W. Humphrey who spoke on "Our New Park." The speakers advocated and explained the benefits of a park in Ellwood City. They told of what had to be done in case the people of Ellwood City favored the park. What a public park should contain was also thoroughly discussed by the speakers. Ellwood's proposed park was compared with one of Cleveland's many parks. Mr. Humphrey showed a blue print of the proposed park which covers over 40 acres.

It was suggested that an annual outing or picnic with concession in which the profits would go to the park would be a good way to finance the plan. Of course an appropriation from council would be expected. Conducting a contest for a name for the park would stimulate public interest. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who would enjoy the facilities of the park would greatly aid in preserving the place, and make it more interesting.

The next meeting of the club will take place on the second Tuesday of November.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Upon a recommendation from their attorney the board of education decided last night at their regular meeting in the Lincoln high school to reject all bids for an installation of a satisfactory lighting system and instead pass a resolution to have the Industrial Electric company remove the old hydro-electric set and install in its place a hydro-gas emergency set that will be approved by the state department. The board was advised to pay an additional $800 for a satisfactory set.

The Harmony company holds nearly all of the franchises in this district. The matter will be settled later after an investigation by the board.

Local Eleven Will Miss Uram And Lasky

Coach Bridenbaugh Faces Huge Task In Replacing Stars This Season

COACH GROOMING—McIVER AND JAMES

Due to the loss of two of its most impressive gridders, Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh of the New Castle high school faces one of the most difficult tasks since starting coaching at the high school. The severe injuries of Nick Uram, quarterback and Andy Lasky, halfback who sustained broken collar bones in scrimmages, will not only prove detrimental to the gridders but will lessen New Castle's chances on having a winning combination this season.

Nick Uram was hurt on Saturday afternoon at Taggart field. Uram who was groomed for a quarterback post on this season's eleven will have to be content to watch the games from the side lines probably for the whole season. Tuesday's morning's scrimmage proved another expensive workout when Andy Lasky, last season's star halfback met with the same accident as Uram when he was running around right end.

Lasky was making a beautiful run around right end when the accident occurred. He had gained something like 35 to 40 yards when the mishap took place. He is resting in the New Castle hospital. Like Uram he may have to be a bystander at the tilts this season.

With these two boys out of the lineup the eleven will miss considerable strength. While these two gridders are healing their injuries, Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is hunting for a pair to replace them. William McIver, who saw action in several games last season is being used at quarterback. He will more than likely replace Uram at the post.

McIver has some experience at halfback and at quarterback. Coach Bridenbaugh is giving all the candidates a tryout at Taggart field in the hope of finding a pair of gridders capable of filling the two berths. Patsy James is being used at halfback. James may secure the position left open by Lasky.

In the meantime Coach Bridenbaugh with a line as strong as cement is concentrating on his backfield. He lacks backfield men the calibre of Lasky and Uram.

Tuesday's workouts proved rather light. The morning scrimmage was short as was the afternoon session. Starting with this afternoon, the gridders will go through one workout daily at Taggart field until September 18 when Coraopolis opens the season here.

Lockley Mushball Team Entertained

Spaghetti Dinner Served Lockley Mushball Team At Roberts' Cottage

The Lockley mushball team winners of the first-half of the Class A championship fight, in the Class A league, were tendered a fine spaghetti dinner at the summer cottage of Cliff Roberts by their sponsor, H. W. Lockley. The event took place last Saturday evening.

The serving of the spaghetti was complete with everything from red peppers to meat balls.

Prior to the dinner the married men defeated the single men at mushball 21 to 7. Also there was a horse-shoe pitching contest and darkness spoiled this amusement, just when the finals between Hap Rodgers and Sid Lockley versus Chet Reed and Cliff Roberts was in progress. After dinner a bonfire was built and aided by El Lockley's banjo and the fine voice of Nickie Ross, the evening hours were thoroughly enjoyed.

Basketball Training Camp Is Pitt's Idea

Pittsburgh University Will Not Be In Charge Of Expedition Is Reported

International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Talking about basketball now may be putting the cart before the horse, but the odd bit of news from the University of Pittsburgh concerning plans for the winter's basketball season deserves mention at this time, even in the midst of an atmosphere that will soon be filled with piskin talk.

The Pitt cagers plan to steal a trick from the boys of the grid-iron and set themselves up a basketball training camp. It is believed that this is the first time a basketball squad will make such intensive preparation for the floor game.

In making the innovation, so the reports state, the cagers will not be under the supervision of the University. The feeling is that such a move would be going too far in the direction of "over-emphasis."

Plan Is Popular
As the project lines up now, it is proposed to have the ambitious lads congregate somewhere "out of the city" where basketball courts will be available and then let them do nothing but eat, drink sleep, and think basketball for a brief period.

Those acquainted with the new wrinkles injected into the Panther basketball system during the last few years under the reign of Dr. Cliff Carlson are not surprised by the anticipated move of instituting the floor camp. Some of the other innovations brought about by Carlson are his basketball clinic, his endorsement of ice cream as a cager's diet, and particularly his complicated system of play.

The Ryantown baseball team handed the Malizia team a 4 to 0 setback last night at the Hickory Heights field. Davies on the knoll for the Ryantown team allowed the Malizia team but three hits and fanned two men. The Ryantown boys found Stone for nine hits.

Myler Drops Out Of College

(Special to The News.)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 9.—Charles Myler, New Castle, a member of the Westminster college football squad last year has been forced to withdraw from the Titan team and will not be in college this fall.

Myler was a candidate for an end position during the first few days of the training camp. Myler played end for New Castle last year before entering Westminster. Last year he saw action at end in a number of games for the Titans, and had a good chance of making the varsity this year. He hopes to return to college in the second semester or by next September at the latest.

Energy Takes Two From Portersville

The Energy team handed Portersville a double setback on Labor Day. Energy took the morning game played at Energy 13 to 3 with Nelson pitching a nice game for the winners.

The afternoon game at Portersville was won by Energy by a score of 21 to 12. The game was a free-slugging contest from start to finish, with the Energy team having 22 hits. The game was loosely played with 11 errors being chalked up.

It never rains unless it pours is true if the injuries sustained by Nick Uram and Andy Lasky, high school football warriors is a criterion. Peculiarly both are out with fractured collarbones. It isn't likely they'll get into action this season. However, it is apparent that Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will have a good team this season.

Miz Dart the Vine Street fireman is all 'het up' over the Westminster football squad which he says number about 50. He says the team has weight and in his opinion the Blue and White will have a good eleven this season. Told that Grove City has a squad of 72, Miz smiled and remarked: "Oh, boy, if we could only beat Grove City this year."

Three titles will be in the ring Thursday when Tony Canzoneri and Jack Berg step to the line for the third of their series. Canzoneri will be defending his lightweight title and his claim of the junior welterweight diadem. Berg has never quit claim his junior welterweight championship despite his knockout by Tony. It looks as though Tony will win from Jack again.

After Homer Gray fights Bill Donnell here September 28, he will cast eyes at out-of-town bouts, he announced yesterday. "A lot of people thought I was yellow because I asked to be relieved of fighting Bill in the last show. I'm going to show this impression was erroneous when I leap into the ring next time. Fans can look for me to nail him like I did Nick Adams" he stated.

Another good natural for the V. P. W. boxing show is a bout between either Johnny Jennings and Billy Joyce or Johnny Jennings and Tommy Arnold. Joyce is a former Youngstown boy. The other duo hail from New Castle. They weigh 140

TIGER JOE WEST STOPS SOLOMON

Jimmy Belmont Beats Lawless And McVey Kayoes Butler 'Heavy'

Tiger Joe West scored a knockout over Mickey Solomon of New Castle in four rounds at Pittsburgh last night. Solomon went down twice in the first round for counts of nine. He went down in the second for a three count and in the third he was on the canvas for a nine count and was on the floor, cold, when the bell sounded without a count being started. West weighed 158 3-4 and Solomon 156. It was the semi-final bout. Henry Firpo beat West here.

In the main bout Jimmy Belmont won the unanimous decision over Bucky Lawless. Lawless boxed beautifully but a stirring finish brought Belmont the verdict which proved unpopular with a majority of the fans. The din following the decision lasted for fully five minutes and the crowd refused to quit in order to permit further announcements.

Chuck Taggart, Butler, was knocked out by Sunny Jim McVey in the fourth round. Benny Goldblatt won a close decision over U. S. Carpenter.

Canzoneri-Berg To Battle Thursday

(International News Service)

SUMMIT, N. J., Sept. 9.—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion who defends his title against Jack Kid Berg at the Polo grounds tomorrow night will depart from camp this morning following roadwork.

The champion completed hard training here yesterday with three rounds of boxing and four of symposium stunts and his weight indicated that he is to scale little more than 132½ for the battle.

Each of them can score a knockout from any angle. Joyce put Jennings down for a count in the bout in which he appeared here.

If there is a slower runner in the majors than Earl Sheeley of the Braves he hasn't turned up at first base yet, according to Dan Parker in the Daily Mirror. Shanty Hogan, somewhat of a snail himself, becomes a greyhound by comparison. Recently while the Giants and the Braves were playing a twin bill in Boston, Sheeley broke up a promising batting rally by hitting into a double play. As he picked 'em up and laid 'em down rumbling down to first, the kid in charge of the phonograph amplifier, who thinks much faster than Earl runs, put on the disc: "I'm one of God's Chillun That Ain't Got Wings."

Tommy Loughran, former lightweight champion will take on Jake Gross at Philadelphia tonight in a return bout listed for 10 rounds. It will serve as a tune-up for Tommy's return meeting with Joe Sekyra, at the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City, September 12. Sekyra recently surprised all hands by out-pointing Charlie Retzlaff the westerner. Local fans have had two peeps at Sekyra, the first when he defeated Emmett Rocco and the second when he flattened Gene Stanton. Loughran is picked to beat Gross tonight.

Speaking of Rocco brings to mind that September 15, he will meet his rival, Knockout Christner at Canton. About a year ago Christner scored over Rocco at Akron. Emmett tried to box the Rubber City boy and failed. The Akronite is not near as good as he was. If Rocco can beat Christner he will be in line for some bouts. Mickey Solomon will oppose Linn Jordan in the semi-windup.

Injured Right Shoulder May Keep St. Louis Pitching Star From World Series

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—Jess Haines, veteran right-handed pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, will not pitch for the National League champions for two weeks at least, Dr. Robert Hyland, club physician announced Tuesday.

Dr. Hyland examined Haines' right shoulder which he injured last week. Whether he will be able to hurl in the world series, if the Cardinals win the pennant is questionable, Dr. Hyland added.

Mercellas Play Cencos Thursday

Fresh from their impressive victory over the Pierce and Bartsch mushball team, Tuesday night, the Mercellas team, second half champs of the Class B league hope to hand the Cencos a defeat when they meet Thursday night on the Can Works grounds.

To date the Mercellas have captured 38 tilts and have lost the small sum of seven games. The Cencos have won the second half title of the Class A title and are on the verge of winning the Class A title.

Wealthy Men Like Game Of Polo And Risk Their Necks

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Some twenty-odd men whose potential wealth might be estimated over a total of close to two billion dollars, will risk their necks for a silver cup in the annual United States open polo championship that gets under way today at Meadowbrook Long Island.

Six teams, including two Argentine quartets are competing for the cup, symbol of top honors in American polo. One of the South American outfits is likely to win. If this comes to pass, an all-star United States aggregation probably will be selected to meet them in an international series, according to officials of the U. S. Polo Association.

Whitney Plays.
The "bleated bondholders" who will risk their lives and limbs in the spectacular sport of "horseback hockey" include bloodsuckers who are immensely wealthy in their own right or will some day inherit huge fortunes. There is John Hay Whitney, recent recipient of a $1,000,000 legacy and probably the wealthiest young man in the country today.

There are Winston Guest, Stephen Laddie Stanford, H. E. Talbot Jr., and A. C. Schwartz, all names to conjure with in the social and financial worlds.

The Argentine players include Juan J. Rosal, son of the richest man in all South America, and Alfredo Harrington, relative of the family that owned the famous Hop Diamond.

And there are the Miles brothers, who ride over their extensive properties in the Argentine pampas even as twenty centuries ago wealthy "rancheros" of Asia played "polo" forerunner of polo, on the plains of Persia.

Polo Expensive Game.

About 240 ponies, with an average value of a million dollars, will be used in the present tournament. The average polo pony is worth $4,500. Incidentally, they bear such intriguing names as Tuffy, Clara Bow, Peticat, Mac, Mee Foo, Jelly Bean, White Salve, Bridget and O. K. Pal.

Polo is an expensive hobby, the sport costs John Hay Whitney about $125,000 a year. Stephen Sanford, a dyed-in-the-wool enthusiast, spends even more.

Grove Wins His Twenty-Eighth

Athletics Mound Ace Hangs Up Victory Number 28 At Expense Of Washington

ROOKIES TART SHOWING CLASS

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Like a bubble with a pin stuck through it, the New York Giants' threat against the St. Louis Cardinals lay broken and flat today.

While St. Louis was idle yesterday the Giants muffed their chance to gain by splitting a twin bill with the declasse Phillies. The even-temper business ended with the New Yorkers right back where they started, seven games behind the Redbirds.

Phidkey Phil Collins' pitching and a single by Klein with the bags choked beat the Giants in the opener, 3 to 1. Mooney spaced the ten hits of the Phils in the vesper and hit a single that eventually turned into the run that won for the Manhattan men, 4 to 3.

Lefty Grove hung up his 28th seasonal success as the champion A's flipped Washington, 10 to 1. Sad Sam Jones explored the heavens when the Athletics whacked him mightily in the seventh, scoring eight runs.

Ferrell and Kress contributed homers to win, 3 to 2, for the St. Louis Browns over Detroit, advancing the Browns into fifth place.

Bobby Reis, a youngster from Brooklyn's baseball college at Hartford, looked good at third base and started a batting rally with a single in the eighth that gave the Robins four tallies and a 10 to 6 advantage over Boston.

Making his debut with Pittsburgh, Bill Harris, Texas leaguer, gave only five safeties and the Pirates downed the Cincy Reds, 3 to 0. It was Pittsburgh's seventh straight victory.

Cleveland took its third straight double header, turning back the White Sox of Chicago, 8 to 7 and 6 to 3. A balk by pitcher Ted Lyons permitted the Indians to score the margin of victory in the first tilt. Five runs in the first inning off Pat Caraway cinched the second game. It was Caraway's twenty-second defeat of the year.

Other teams were idle.

Shade And Jeby Fight To Draw

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The efforts of the New York Boxing Commission to select a candidate to succeed Mickey Walker as the middleweight champion ended in a stalemate last night.

The two outstanding contenders—Dave Shade, of California, and Ben Jeby, of the East side—fought to a ten-round draw at the Queensboro stadium. The decision handed out by the judges proved most unpopular with the fans. Many thought that Shade had won the fight by a big margin.

Mushball Notes

The Lockley Machine mushball team will play the Oak A. C. at the Lehigh field tonight at 6 o'clock. This will be a practice game for both teams.

The Taffy Pullers mushball team hung a 9 to 8 defeat on the Williams A. C. in a game played at Clifton Flats. The Taffys won the game in the ninth inning with one man out. Brown, Lewis, Travers and Dilks did a lot of heavy hitting. H. L. Ryan was the winning pitcher.

The Forrest A. C. topped the Skelly A. C. 13 to 12 in a mushball game at Lehigh field. The game was a see-saw affair all the way with the Forrest A. C. forced to overcome a lead of several runs. The game was interesting.

The Marcellas will play the Canos of the American Can company at the Can Works field on Thursday night in an exhibition game. The Marcellas have won 38 games and lost 7 this year, which is an enviable record for the first year of mushball. The team is managed by Fred Marcella.

Mercer High Squad Begins Training

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 9.—Thirty-five local high school boys are in training camp here headed by Coach William Crowell. They are making ready for an 8-game football season that the locals will play this season. The season is the fourth since the rejuvenation of the sport at the local high school.

Greenville is the only Class A school on the schedule of the locals who will play the remainder of their games with the Class B schools of the county.

Three won and four lost in Class B circles sums the 1930 card. For two seasons prefaceing this the squad kept plugging with the best they could muster.

Crowell says he has eight letter men from 1930 and lots of good material.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 9.—Mauno "Whitney" Siljander, Titan basketball and track letterman, reported for football this week and has been showing up fairly well at end. "Whitney" spent the summer as a life guard at the South Side pool, Pittsburgh.

The Westminister squad, which started with more than 60 men, is now reduced to 40 men. Further reductions will not be made until next week.

Among the alumni who visited camp during the last two days have been "Hickory" Heira, Farrell, Harry Boyce, Pittsburgh; Russell Dague, Houston; Henry Wetlich, Cardella, p.

Goal posts will be placed in position Thursday and the field will be lined so that actual game practice can be held.

Only one drill will be possible each day after next Tuesday when freshman registration and matriculation begins.

Trainer Jack Holme has most of the members of the squad walking around town barefooted.

The mantle of national senior golf king worn since 1929 by Dr. George T. Gregg of the Oakmont club, Pittsburgh was threatened by S. C. Mabon of the Garden City club, Rye, N. Y., yesterday. Mabon turned in a low gross score of 76 to lead the field at the close of the opening round of the twenty-seventh annual tournament of the United States Seniors Golf association. Mabon, one of the earliest of the 132 to tee off, led the defending champ six strokes.

Close behind Mabon were Claude Foster, Ohio state titleholder and John D. Chapman of Greenwich, each carding a 79.

Stunning upsets featured the third round of play yesterday in the golden jubilee men's National tennis singles championship. Earlier in the day Bob Bryan of Chattanooga, as unknown as Bowden, beat George P. AL.

Whether it's a vacation tour or just a one-day outing, you will drive a De Soto Six farther—and at a faster pace—than any other car you ever owned.

You can maintain high speeds without effort hour after hour. You can climb steep hills without feeling that you are over-working your car. The big, smooth 72-horsepower engine, De Soto's perfected Free Wheeling optional at only $20 extra, the Easy-Shift Transmission with Silent Second, the self-equalizing internal hydraulic brakes, the steering ease, the quiet all-steel body, the low center of gravity made possible by a new double-drop frame—all these are factors in sustaining with ease whatever pace you prefer to travel. The De Soto Six is as comfortable to ride in as it is easy and fascinating to drive. Long, flexible springs controlled by four hydraulic shock absorbers and deep upholstery with luxury-type spring cushions insure a restful journey.

Naturally, a car so good on the open road is equally fine for city traffic. Let us demonstrate a De Soto Six to you.

Mis Simplicity
(Pat. Applied For)

So simple... and yet this unique garment contours the figure to lovelier lines. The clever diagonal "cross-pull" of the straps (that button in back) scientifically uplift the bust to a natural curve, flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, slenderizes the waistline and firmly persuades the body to correct posture.

Large Group Of Legionnaires To Go To Detroit

Will Make Trip In Pullman, Which Will Be Group Headquarters

Plans for the trip to Detroit, Michigan, to attend the national convention of the American Legion, the week of September 20, are maturing rapidly. The trip is to be made in a Pullman, which will be the headquarters of the Legionnaires during their stay in Detroit, and there is room for twenty-five to make the trip.

The required number has now been about reached and those expecting to make the trip with the group, must get busy at once and make reservation, or it is possible that this special car and group, at least, will not be available to them. Comrade A. J. Goldman of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company is in charge of the arrangements and those interested must get in touch with him.

Candidates Are Scarce!

Yes! But Only For One County Office Primary Ballot Shows

NO ENTRIES FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR

Who wants to be county surveyor? There appears to be no salary to it, but then there appears to be no work either, which seems to balance the account.

There has to be a county surveyor elected, yet there are no candidates, and the one elected will probably never know it.

The office is relic of the old days when a county surveyor had a real job to do. In those days, no doubt, the office was sought after by a horde of applicants but in the past years it has fallen into disuse.

If you want to check yourself on your knowledge of county officers, who is the present county surveyor? Somebody was elected the last time the office had to be filled, even though he got but one or two votes. A score of names were written in and the lad who got the most names won the office. But he didn't win anything.

The office has to be filled again, the term (whatever it was) having expired. When you cast your ballot on September 15 you will find a space reserved for you to write in the name of some one who you think should be county surveyor.

It is the one office in Lawrence County not sought after. Nobody wants it, and few know such an office exists. But it's there.

Determined Band Of Unemployed Storm Trades Union Congress In Session

(International News Service)
BRISTOL, Eng., Sept. 9.—A determined band of unemployed demonstrators attempted to storm the hall where the Trades Union Congress was in session today.

Led by women, the mob attacked guards who tried to resist the invasion. A number of employees of the hall were injured before the mob dispersed with arrival of police.

Bankers Discuss Courses Of Study

A survey to learn the number of bank clerks and junior bank officers interested in efficiency courses conducted under the auspices of the American Institute of Banking was recently made at Ellwood City. Bankers of the district gathered to discuss the matter at a meeting. The courses are sponsored on a non-profit basis and have the full backing of the institute, an organization functioning similarly to the American Bankers' Association.

Ask To Lengthen Residential Route

An application to extend city mail delivery service along Glenmore boulevard to several newly constructed homes opposite the First U. P. church rests with Washington postal authorities, the post office announces.

The present limits allow the carrier to deliver only as far as Albert street.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There was considerable washing of necks and ears in the average New Castle home today. Neck that had been a bit shady to say the least, for practically all the summer were brought out to the full light of day, and ears that had a grained appearance most of the summer were scrubbed until they were shining and bright.

School opens, or did you guess it right away, and the youngsters are back at the educational grind. And of course to make things worse the weather man would turn on a day that was marked for picnicking.

These Eugenie hats must be here to stay a while at least. Noticed in the audience in the Senior High auditorium yesterday, about every third head gear was one of those trick affairs that the Empress Eugenie wore.

This particular Eugenie, if our history recollection is right, was the wife of Napoleon the Third. In her day she was one of the hat potatoes on lil old Patee, and whatever she wore, the gals immediately went for in a large way.

Among the other trick chick things she brought out was a hat that looked like an overseas cap with a brim on it, and the style was created. Now her idea in hats is getting a play, and whenever the school teachers take up a style en bloc and en masse, you can lay odds that the style has crashed.

It seems that the fruit crop this year is so heavy that small boys don't have to bother stealing peaches or apples. Out beyond Wilmington you can buy a tree of peaches for a dollar if you'll pick them yourself.

There was a time when we thought Golden Bantam corn was the prime eating corn of the world. Not any more. After sinking a couple of molars into some Mammoth Evergreen the other evening, honesty compels the statement that this has got Golden Bantam out in the first round.

DO YOU KNOW—

The ice cream man who usually has a cigarette dangling from his lip as he talks to you.

The public utility official who lectures on diet with the slightest provocation.

The dry cleaning man who takes a lot of trips and insists upon describing each one in detail.

The dentist who can tell you the number of all his friends automobile licenses.

The lawyer who walks bareheaded with his hat in his hand.

The boxing manager who gives his instructions to his men with his hands in his pockets.

Waltz Returning In Public Favor

After one-stepping with variations for years, the younger generation will have to turn to their fathers and mothers to learn how to waltz, for this dance which was so popular during the first decade of the present century, is coming back into favor.

London ball rooms resound with the strains of the Blue Danube and the Merry Widow these days, it is said, and the most popular partners are the men of middle age, who was adept at waltzing and has not forgotten the beat of the one, two, three time.
